GREAT DAMAGE DONE BY LAST NIGHT'S STORM.

Heaviest Rainfall in the City's History.

FIVE INCHES OF WATER IN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS.

DAMAGES TO PROPERTY ESTIMATED AT HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS.

PANIC OF TERROR IN THE RESERVOIR DISTRICT.

Cellars Flooded and Hundreds of Residents Fled From Their Homes to Escape the Dangers Incident to the Rushing Waters.

All records were broken by the rainfall of Thursday and Thursday night.

During the 24 hours commencing Thursday morning 5.08 inches of rain fell, 1.91 inches fell during the day, and 3.17 inches during the night.

The greatest previous fall was the night of June 15 and 16, 1888, when 4.64 inches fell.

The result is that all low and badly drained sections of the city are flooded.

In the neighborhood of Chouteau, Jefferson and Compton avenues and Rutger street, the residents at 1:30 o'clock Friday morning, while the storm was abating, were thrown into a panic of terror by the belief that Compton Hill reservoir had collapsed, and men, women and children ran half-clad and screaming through the streets in search of safety on high ground.

In that section, which forms a sort of basin, water tore along the streets in floods, overflowing the curbstones, the steps of houses, flooding cellars and in many instances rising to the depth of several feet in the first floors.

It was a night of terror.

The inhabitants firmly believed that death by drowning awaited them. The roar of falling water, the rushing of the flood in the streets, the crashing peals of thunder and blinding flashes of lightning combined to rouse in the breasts of men, women and children a dread that grew into a panic of desperate fear, and they rushed from their houses, some in their night clothes, others dressed in a few garments hastily thrown on.

In this wild dash from what they believed was the death of rats in a hole they met difficulties that only desperation could surmount. They were almost carried off their feet by the roaring tide that swept down the streets; they were buffeted and blinded by the sheets of water that fell from above; they were deafened by the thunder and dazed by the lightning; on they ran, screaming, yelling, struggling for the safety that lay on the high ground at Papin street.

Other parts of the city similar scenes were enacted. In the Cheltenham district floods rose until many houses stood like sea, and victims sought safety on hastily improvised rafts.

Wherever the land is low or the drainage imperfect, floods rose to menace lives and damage property. No section of the city escaped the visitation.

At the Chouteau avenue panic was the worst, because the belief was prevalent that the big Compton Hill reservoir had burst, letting its torrents loose upon the surrounding territory.

Mrs. T. J. Quigley, living at 2745 Chouteau avenue with her husband and nine children, was awakened by the roar of the storm. She dragged her husband and children from their beds and terror-stricken they waded through the water that filled the lower floor of the house and made their way to Papin street.

The cellar of the grocery at 2745 Chouteau avenue is flooded and the damage is $1500.

Gus Barge, a baker at 2736 Chouteau avenue, was awakened to find his cellar flooded and the water three feet deep in the first floor. He stayed on the second floor, his children, but $750 worth of other goods were ruined in the store.

The store of William Rodenich at 2738 Chouteau was flooded and the stock ruined.

All the district is flooded and damaged. Cellars were inundated. Mrs. Margaret Banks, at 2814 Papin street, suffered to the extent of $300.

The low place at Thirty-fourth and Lucas avenue was covered by a foot or two of water. May's drug store at the corner suffered, and all the cellars in the vicinity are flooded.

Floods of water rushed down the long hills from Grand avenue and Garrison and found a resting place on Channing, spreading out in an immense lake that hid the Lindell tracks.

When the water receded Friday morning it left the pavements covered with mud.

The storehouse of the Charles W. Goetz Lime and Cement Co. at 3533 Gratiot street, was flooded and the damage to the stock amounts to $1000.

The basement of William Reame's house at 3201 Chouteau avenue, was damaged $50.

John May, whose hardware store was damaged $2000 by the flood, says the residents of his neighborhood will join in a monster damage suit against the city, involving more than $100,000, which he says is a conservative estimate of the damage within a radius of a block of his store. He lays the blame on the drainage system.

The faulty construction of streets, pavements and drains and the existence of sinkholes all over the flooded Chouteau avenue district were developed strikingly by this disaster. The streets and pavements are sunken in hundreds of places, showing that the water got beneath and undermined them.

The children of the neighborhood, seeing none of the evils of the disaster, now that daylight has come, are fishing with bent pins in the flooded cellars.

The Lindell Railway power house at Compton avenue and Papin street was flooded to the depth of several inches and all but two of the 12 dynamos were rendered ineffective. The employes worked desperately with buckets, and every other vessel they could lay their hands to, bailing out the water as it ran in. Six dynamos were in condition for use Friday morning.

FRIDAY MORNING SCENE IN THE VICINITY OF CHOUTEAU AVENUE AND THIRTY-SECOND STREET.

None of them were permanently injured.

R. J. Bergman, who keeps a feed store at 2755 Chouteau, had a terrible struggle to save 14 horses that were nearly drowned in his stable. He found the horses almost submerged, and, after the most herculean efforts, he got out and took them to Papin street.

Officer McCloskey said the force of the torrent as it rushed down sewer inlets was so great that it lifted the massive stones over them. He did good service in warning people to get out of their houses.

SUBURBS WERE DELUGED.

River Des Peres Went on a Rampage at Forest Park.

River Des Peres was turned into a rushing torrent by the cloudburst. It rapidly rose until it was 200 to 300 feet wide, swirling around tree trunks, submerging and damaging bridges, and carrying away everything movable in its path. Charles Schweickardt said the general damage in the park was greater than from any previous overflow.

A big lake grew during the night at the crossing of the Wabash and Suburban tracks at Forest Park Station. The lake is about 400 feet long and 200 feet wide, with an average depth of 14 feet.

At Manchester avenue and King's highway the street was completely flooded. Howard and Gratiot stations were surrounded by seas. The Hydraulic Press Brick Works stood on an island in the midst of a lake that was waist deep.

At Cheltenham the flood was heavy. Farther west, the Meramec River burst over its banks in many places and flooded the country.

For several hours the mounted police station was surrounded by water and inaccessible.

Wires of all kinds suffered severely in all parts of the city.

PLAY OF THE LIGHTNING.

Old City Hall Struck and Several Persons Injured.

The lightning threatened at every moment to do great damage. Its play was continuous and blinding. It struck the old City Hall. The shock threw Dr. Newcomb and Drivers Kuch and Ernest to the floor and stunned them.

The St. Elmo's light in many parts of the city was beautiful and awe-inspiring.

It played upon housetops, trees, telephone poles and church spires. Great balls of blue flame danced and darted from house to house and from tree to tree.

CAMARA IS ON HIS WAY BACK TO SPAIN.

His Ships Have Re-Entered the Canal and Are Expected Home Within a Week.

LIEUTENANT-GENERAL LINARES.
(From a Late Photograph.)

Lieutenant-General Linares, in command of the Spanish forces in the neighborhood of Santiago, and who was severely wounded in the first day's fighting, is about 50 years of age, of medium height, slender in build, and has a dreamy, far-away look in his eyes. He is said to be an excellent soldier, a stranger to fear and popular both with officers and men. He went to Cuba first under Campos, and was in command of a regiment.

ENEMY ONLY 200 YARDS AWAY.

Each Army Views the Operations of the Other During the Time of Truce.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1898, by the Press Publishing Co.)

BATES' HEADQUARTERS, BEFORE SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 5, via Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 7.—An open stretch of only 200 yards now separates our trenches from the advance works of the enemy. The distance is so short that we can readily behold every action of the Spanish soldiers.

In some places the Spaniards have taken advantage of the armistice to work anew upon the breastworks shattered by the American fire. This has been notwithstanding the terms of truce. When our officers saw this characteristic act of the enemy Gen. Shafter was notified.

A sharp message was sent by the General to the Spanish Commander, notifying him that unless they stopped work he would open fire. This had the proper effect, except at occasional points, where the threat was ignored. The white flag still waves over the Spanish trenches and otherwise the truce is observed.

From our works 25 Red Cross flags are visible over buildings. Many of these structures are churches, which we know to be filled with wounded. Most of the buildings face our batteries, and it requires no stretch of the imagination to see that the Spaniards are protecting themselves after their most approved methods.

Occasionally our men have been annoyed by guerrillas, but these maurauders, whose tactics are contemptible and cowardly, have been repulsed with little trouble. Their firing is directed mainly at the American officers, apparently with the intention of picking them off one by one.

With reinforcements it will be a mere matter of reaching out and taking Santiago as we choose.

GEORGE BRONSON REA,
Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

By the Associated Press.

MAJOR-GENERAL SHAFTER'S HEADQUARTERS, BEFORE SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 7, by the Associated Press Dispatch Boat Dauntless, via Port Antonio and Kingston, Jamaica, July 8.—Not a shot has been fired recently on either side at Santiago, but work is being pushed on the batteries and entrenchments. Our position has been greatly strengthened during the last 48 hours, the American lines advancing to within 200 yards of the enemy and our hillside batteries overlooking and commanding the city.

Gen. Lawton's division advanced 500 yards to the great surprise of the enemy.

The dynamite gun of Col. Wood's Rough Riders, in charge of Sergt. Hallett Alsop Borrowe, has been beautifully placed, hidden in a snug pit.

The streams have been bridged over, allowing the transportation of heavy artillery with facility, and the roads have been greatly improved. The general health of the soldiers is good.

The armistice is affording a long-needed rest for our men, and they are now in good condition to resume fighting.

ARMISTICE AGAIN EXTENDED.

GEN. SHAFTER'S HEADQUARTERS, BEFORE SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 7, via Kingston, Jamaica, July 8.—The armistice has been extended until noon on Saturday in order to allow Gen. Linares to communicate with Captain-General Blanco and with Madrid.

SHAFTER WILL NOT MOVE TILL MORE TROOPS COME.

Sampson, However, Will Attack the Forts Outside Santiago Harbor at Noon To-Morrow.

PARIS, July 8.—A dispatch from Ismailia says the Spanish squadron has re-entered the canal on its way back to Spain.

MADRID, July 6.—Admiral Camara's fleet, which has just passed through the Suez Canal, headed eastward, is expected by nearly all political leaders to return to Cartagena by the end of next week.

SHAFTER DELAYS, AWAITING AID.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Gen. Shafter reported all quiet yesterday at Santiago, and the best belief of the officials here is that the same state of affairs obtains to-day.

The army is losing nothing by its rest, and according to the General's account is gathering strength. More reinforcements due to-day or to-morrow.

It is hoped that assault will be renewed to-morrow, though, so far as the army is concerned, it is gathered from Gen. Shafter's report that it will not advance before reinforcements arrive unless in order to repel a counter attack from the Spaniards.

A PRIVATEER IN THE PACIFIC.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The Navy Department has been informed that a Spanish privateer carrying five guns is hovering off the coast of British Columbia.

According to last accounts, the privateer was between Prince Charlotte Sound and Dixon's Entrance.

Prompt instructions have been sent to the military authorities of the northwest coast to prepare for a visitation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 8.—The report from Washington that a Spanish privateer is hovering off the coast of British Columbia is not credited here. Some time ago it was reported that a man named Brown had cabled from Victoria to the Spanish authorities at Madrid asking for letters of marque to fit out a privateer and prey upon the treasure ships coming from the Klondike. At the time this was thought to be merely an advertiseing scheme, but if a Spanish privateer is really cruising off British Columbia she will have rich picking. The steamers Roanoke and St. Paul are due to arrive almost any day from St. Michaels with big shipments of treasure to the North American Trading and Transportation Co., and the Alaska Commercial Co. The steamer Lelanaw is also due with returning prospectors and their clean-ups. The Roanoke and Lelanaw are bound for Seattle and the St. Paul for San Francisco.

The United States gunboat Wheeling is the only Government vessel at present in Alaskan waters, and she is conveying a surveying expedition to the Yukon.

SAMPSON TO GO IN HARBOR.

Gen. Shafter and the Admiral Plan That the Forts Shall Be Bombarded To-Morrow.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—It is officially announced that Gen. Shafter and Admiral Sampson have agreed on a plan of campaign. At noon to-morrow Admiral Sampson will begin a bombardment from the outer works of Santiago harbor.

WITH SHAFTER'S ARMY July 7, via Kingston, July 8.—The new plan of assault on Santiago is for Rear Admiral Sampson to bombard the forts at the mouth of the harbor, driving the men away from the guns, and then a thousand men and occupy the forts, while launches with grappling irons go in and countermine the harbor. The fleet will then enter and bombard the city, supporting the land assault.

Gen. Garcia, the insurgent commander, received orders yesterday not to attack the Spaniards while the negotiations are on foot.

The Spanish cruisers are still filled with charred bodies and are covered with buzzards. The Cubans, by Admiral Sampson's orders, have buried the bodies of over 100 Spaniards which were washed ashore.

RAIN HOLDS BACK OUR TROOPS.

(Copyrighted, 1898, by Associated Press.)

CAVITE, Philippine Islands, July 4, via Hong Kong, July 8.—Floods in the country districts are hindering the advance of the American troops.

Rear Admiral Dewey has given notice that he will not allow any more refugees being removed from Manilla on board ship.

The German cruiser Cormorant left here to-day for Iloilo, where the British gunboats Pigmy and Rattler are in harbor

HIS SISTER A CHORUS GIRL.

Will Chesney of Chicago Made a Discovery.

OUT AT THE CAVE HE MET MISS MARION RAY.

SHE HAD DISAPPEARED FROM HER HOME MORE THAN A YEAR AGO.

AN EXCITED COMPANY AT THE RECOGNITION.

Prominent Young Business Man Went to the Opera and Unexpectedly Found the Sister a Successful Singer.

With a half-smothered exclamation of astonishment and delight Miss Marion Ray, chorus girl at Uhrig's Cave, ran plump into the arms of a man in the wineroom at the garden.

There followed a little scene which sent the company present skulking away shamefaced.

It was the reunion of a brother and sister under singularly pathetic circumstances.

Habitues of the Cave will remember the scene. The surroundings made a strange setting for the picture of a brother coming suddenly upon a sister whom he had not seen for more than a year and of whose whereabouts he was entirely ignorant.

There were tables and bottles and half-filled glasses and gossiping stage women, and lolling, admiring men, flaring lights which seemed suddenly to become garish when Miss Marion Ray found her brother.

The brother is Mr. Will Chesney of Chicago. He is typical of the men of that city, alert, money-making, worldly-wise.

The sister is known during the year that she has been a chorus girl as Marion Ray. She is only 17 years old and singularly fresh and sweet. Her face is of the miniature, piquant type, and her manner has not been sullied by her stage life. She has a pretty little half lisp that adds to her charm when she speaks.

She confesses that since she was a child in short dresses the stage has been her ambition. As she grew her longing in that direction became more imperative. She secretly studied under a dramatic teacher. She could not hide her aspiration wholly, however, and a storm of protest from her mother and brother confronted her.

A year ago she secured an engagement in the chorus of a comic opera company and without a word disappeared from home.

Her mother, to whom the stage held terrible possibilities, mourned her as irretrievably lost.

During that year no letter came from the girl. She had cut out her own career and preferred to go it alone until she had won a place in the dramatic world.

When summer came she was daring enough to accept an engagement at the Schiller in Chicago, but dropped it just in time to escape the collapse of the company, and picked up an engagement with the company that is singing at the Cave this season. Her mother and brother did not know she had been in Chicago.

Wednesday her brother came to St. Louis on a business trip. He dropped into the Cave in the evening. After the performance he lingered with some friends in the wineroom, through which the chorus girls usually pass on their way to the street.

The company was a merry one. The room was crowded.

Miss Ray, on her way to her lodgings, entered the room. The company saw her stop at the door, and at the same instant Mr. Chesney rose from the table. For a moment they stood thus, looking at each other. The attention of all in the room had been attracted to them.

Then Mr. Chesney opened his arms, and the little girl, with a cry of "O, Bill!" ran into them and hid her head on his breast.

Some of the women present thought Miss Ray had found an old flame.

"Um! Um!" they ejaculated, tauntingly, and imitated the sounds of kisses.

"Ray's found an old fellow," exclaimed one.

"Isn't it sweet?" said another.

Then they all pursed up their lips and straightened them out with resounding smacks.

Mr. Chesney turned, and as though speaking to the table where his friends sat, but loud enough for all to hear, said, with a strange choking in his voice:

"This is my sister—I haven't seen her for a year—I didn't know where she was."

His manner was dignified, and tears glistened in his eyes. Miss Ray was sobbing on his shoulder.

The faces of the women who had thought to guy Miss Ray fell. The men looked embarrassed. Delicacy came to their rescue, and with muttered apologies the men and women left the room.

Brother and sister were alone with their joy. They talked until far into the morning and Mr. Chesney accompanied her to her lodgings.

"It was such a surprise and joy to me that I cried, of course," said Miss Ray, afterward. "Dear old Bill! I left home, you know, without saying anything about my intention to go on the stage. I always wanted to do it. I had no silly notions about the life. I knew it would be hard and I deliberately chose it. I haven't been disillusioned, because I knew all about it before I took the plunge. I hadn't written home during the year. You can imagine the reason. I knew they were bitterly opposed to my going on the stage and I wanted to disappear under another name until I could make something of myself.

"It was all an accident that Bill found me. I'm not sorry, though. I nearly ate him up and I talked an arm off him, finding out all about my Chicago friends and my mother. This meeting will not make any difference in my stage ambitions. I shall go right on."

MAN HUNT IS KEPT UP.

Posse Still Pursuing the Murderers of Marshal Weis of East Alton.

The tramps arrested in East St. Louis on suspicion of being the murderers of Marshal Weis of East Alton were taken to East Alton Thursday evening, but were not identified as the guilty ones.

The Sheriff and his posse went out Friday morning with bloodhounds to renew the hunt for Weis' slayers. They were unsuccessful Thursday night, the dogs losing the scent at Indian Creek beyond the Edwardsville crossing.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR OPPOSE.

District Assembly No. 4 Declared Against the Amendments.

District Assembly, No. 4, Knights of Labor, representing all the labor organizations of Knights of Labor in St. Louis, at their meeting July 7, 1898, adopted resolutions declaring their opposition to the charter amendments and that the same be given to the press for publication.

Special interest was taken in the subject, and delegates thoroughly discussed it until a late hour, amid a large attendance.

THE WAR HEADQUARTERS DISCUSSING MR. DAVIS' LETTER.

ARMY OFFICERS ON SHAFTER.

Secretary Alger Stands by the Commander at Santiago While Miles Refuses to Express Himself.

From to-day's Globe-Democrat.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Army circles were stirred to-day by a story in the New York Herald by Richard Harding Davis declaring that Gen. Shafter is not fit to command the forces at Santiago, saying that he has not been within two miles of the front, that his orders are countermanded and disobeyed by subordinates, and making a general attack on the campaign and its managers. Here are some extracts from the article:

"Another such victory as that of July 1 and our troops must retreat. The situation is exceedingly grave. * * * It is as impossible to take Santiago with the infantry now overlooking its walls as to open a safe with a pocket pistol. * * * The troops should never have been sent there without the entire force of artillery at Tampa, and until it arrives they can neither advance nor retreat. They can only lie on their faces to be shot at if they rise. They have been in the most cruel heat and wet, with frequent showers, for three days. They are unable to move about. They are under an unceasing fire. Even the strongest and the bravest cannot stand such a strain long. Lack of speech, of exercise, of food and of tobacco and the incessant fire of bullets and shrapnel will destroy any constitution. I went along the trenches this morning and saw men lying in the high grass, which was as weet as a sponge. The dew had not been out of the clothes they wore since June 30. They had not even had time to take them off for a bath. Some of them had been without food for 48 hours. When food did come it was hard tack and coffee. Those who smoke—and they are in the majority—were suffering agonies for lack of tobacco. Their nerves were so unstrung in consequence that as a substitute they were smoking grass, tea leaves and herbs. Overhead the fire was incessant. Ten men at a time manned the rifle pits, and were relieved every hour. The rest of the company of troops lay lower down the crest trying to sleep. Shrapnel burst over them, killing and wounding several. They were under uninterrupted fire from sharpshooters. I do not see how men not made of iron can stand such a state of affairs much longer. This may sound hysterical, yet it is written with the most serious and earnest intention. We are in the face of possible disaster. Nothing has been done by these expeditions beyond proving the heroic courage of American soldiers.

PREPARED IN IGNORANCE.

"Truthfully, the expedition was prepared in ignorance and conducted in a series of blunders. Its commanding General has not yet been within two miles of the scene of operations. That officer rode to a hill two miles from San Juan the day before the battle. He was overcome by heat, and has been lying on his back the greater part of the time since. There are Gen. Sumner, Kent, Lawton and Chaffee, and Col. Wood. Never before have so many commanding officers lived so constantly on the firing line. Yet the man who is supposed to direct the entire expedition is in a tent at the rear. If he is ill he should be relieved; if not, the presence of some man with absolute authority is necessary at the front. I am quoting what the brigade commanders demand. The commanding General's orders are disobeyed without a moment's hesitation. I have heard them countermanded in my presence by Colonels. This is written with the sole purpose that the entire press of the country will force instant action at Washington to relieve the strained situation."

ALGER'S REPLY.

Secretary Alger declared the article was absurd, and would be given no attention, unless, indeed, Shafter saw fit to deal summarily with its author.

"It is a peculiar state of affairs," said Gen. Alger, "when our brave soldiers are compelled to lie in intrenchments to avoid being shot by a lurking, sneaking enemy, and a civilian like Richard Harding Davis will saunter around the intrenchments at will, make his observations and escape unscathed."

Gen. Shafter does not lack defenders, and he also has his critics.

"Shafter is physically unfitted for his position," asserted a prominent officer of the army who wears shoulder straps of no insignificant importance. "The article in question sets forth the case exactly, though, of course, I am not in a position to vouch for the author's opinions. No less than six officers, every one of them superior to Shafter, were shelved to give him an independent command. He may be a Napoleon, a good soldier and tactician, but it cannot be denied that he is not physically qualified to command the army in Cuba. Why, it takes three men to put him on his horse, and when he rode two miles he was so exhausted that he had to take to his cot. Is that the kind of a man to command an army against which the odds are so great? It is not Shafter's fault, I must admit, but the blame lies somewhere that he was chosen to command the army of invasion above Brooke, Otis, Coppinger, Graham and Wade, each of whom was passed over to create an important position for him."

Army officers who preside over bureaus of the War Department were in accord with Gen. Alger's views, eulogizing Gen. Shafter's qualities as a soldier and commander and denouncing his critics.

"If Gen. Shafter is ill, it's another thing," remarked one official, "and in that case I believe he would not hesitate an instant in asking to be relieved for I know him and served on his staff before I attained the rank I now have."

Gen. Miles would not express his opinion, but one or two of his staff officers asserted their belief that Shafter was physically unqualified for his position, saying criticisms of his management of the campaign in Cuba did not come as a surprise. When Gen. Miles arrived at Santiago Gen. Shafter's immediate authority over the army of invasion will cease, as a matter of military precedence, although it is not the intention of Secretary Alger nor President McKinley in sending the Commander-in-Chief to Cuba that his advent upon Cuban soil shall be construed as a slight upon Gen. Shafter or a withdrawal of the trust reposed in him when he was ordered to Santiago.

ENGINEERS ARE NEEDED.

Capt. Sweet Will Enlist All He Can Find Who Are Willing.

Young men anxious to become soldiers fairly swarmed into the Government recruiting office at Third and Olive streets Friday morning.

"There has been no let-up of applicants here," said Capt. Sweet. "Our records show that we have enlisted an average of 100 men a day during the last two months. What we want mostly are mechanics and tradesmen. I received a letter from Washington to-day instructing me to obtain all the engineers I could."

COMMISSIONS MUST BE NEW.

Election Officials Can't Use Those Issued to Them in 1896.

Commissions issued to judges and clerks of election in 1896 are not good now. A number of the officials have an idea that they can serve in the Charter amendment election on their 1896 commissions, and have not yet applied to the Election Commissioners to get their new commissions.

All of them will have to come and renew their commissions by 9 o'clock Friday night. If they do not, policemen will be sent after them.

Judge Murphy Holds Her to the Grand Jury on a Charge of Arson.

Mrs. Agnes R. Pitkin, charged with arson, was held for the grand jury by Judge Murphy Friday morning. Bond was fixed at $1000, with Samuel Burrenstein as surety. The papers were promptly executed and Mrs. Pitkin hurried out of the Four Courts.

Her preliminary examination, which was begun a week ago, was adjourned until Friday morning, when brief and unimportant testimony for the defense was heard.

ALL HAWAIIANS ARE NOW AMERICANS.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The President signed the Hawaiian annexation resolution at 7 o'clock last night. Word was sent to San Francisco immediately to prepare for the first expedition to take peaceful possession of the islands that have crept under the wing of the American eagle. Admiral Miller will in all probability be selected to raise the American flag at Honolulu when the Hawaiian emblem is hauled down.

The commissioners to form a plan of government may not be selected for some time to come and a provisional government will be put in charge in the meantime. President Dole will probably be the man chosen.

Minister Hatch and Mr. Thurston were delighted at the news and Mr. Thurston said it made him feel very happy to know that he had been transformed into an American citizen.

POPULISTS ARE STILL SEVERED.

State Committee Claim to Have Deposed Rozelle.

MIDDLE-OF-ROADERS HELD A BIG CAUCUS.

INSPECTOR ANDERSON STATES THE CASE FOR THE FUSIONISTS.

SIZE OF THE SEPARATE CONVENTIONS DISPUTED.

Campaign of Both Factions Opened at Once Amid the Interchange of Sharp and Glittering Personalities.

Charges and counter charges were being made Friday by the two wings of the Missouri Populist party.

The Middle-of-the-Road faction claim they represent the only Populist party in Missouri and the Fusionists make a similar plea.

"The Fusionists represent about 5 per cent of the total vote of our party," said Frank E. Richey. "The Middle-of-the-Road Convention had 205 delegates present at Thursday's convention in Druids' Hall. The Fusionists had exactly 31 delegates at the bob-tail convention. There were 41 persons sitting in their convention, but as they had delivered credentials to 10 of our delegates we sent the 10 there to keep watch on Rozelle and his crowd. That left them with an even 31 delegates.

"At a meeting of the State Committee held in the Laclede Hotel parlors at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning charges were preferred against Rozelle in writing, and he was unanimously deposed. I wrote out the charges myself. He was accused of receiving money from the Silver Republicans and others and failing to account to the State Committee. Before deposing him we sent for him to come and be present, but he failed to show up. We then went ahead.

"There were present at this meeting 23 committeemen. It is claimed by Rozelle that it was no meeting of the committee and that a majority of the committeemen were not present, but I want to say that 17 of the members at that meeting have been recognized all along by Rozelle and his crowd as members of the committee. There are 30 members in all, so you can see by figuring on those who have been recognized by the Fusionists that we had a clear majority of two.

"Last night the State Committee held another meeting and elected C. J. Anderson secretary and C. K. Reifsnider treasurer.

"We intend holding a caucus to-day and deciding on a plan of campaign. We will not fuse with any party, but intend putting out tickets in every county in the State.

"The Fusionists cannot do this, as they do not represent 3 per cent of the total vote cast at the last election. Of course they will get out a ticket in some of the counties by the aid of other parties."

William Anderson, State Factory Inspector, and Rozelle's right hand man, denied the allegations of Richey. He said:

"The Laclede Hotel meeting which Richey lays such stress on was not a meeting of the State Committee, simply because no meeting of this committee was called for yesterday. Mr. Rozelle was the Chairman of the committee and never called such a meeting. The Middle-of-the-Roaders got a crowd together down there and did what they pleased. Not over eight or 10 members of the Populist State Committee belong to the Middle-of-the-Roaders' faction. They represent just about 10 per cent of the Populist vote in the State; no more. I know they had more delegates in their convention than we had. We had 68 in all. The greater portion of delegates sitting in their convention were fusionists and went with them through a mistake.

"The Executive Committee, the only committee meeting held here, met yesterday and formed the temporary organization of the convention. It also decided to issue tickets to persons presenting credentials before the convention met for admission to the Olympic Theater.

"Those who had not the time to present their credentials before were to be admitted on presentation of the credentials. The Middle-of-the-Roaders took possession of the front of the theater and blocked the doors and told everybody that we were inside and refused to let anybody else in. The consequence was that when they went up to Druids' Hall nearly half of the men accompanying them were our delegates. It was too late to correct the mistake then, but I think the matter is entirely understood now.

"We are on top and never had any doubts of the result. The temporary officers selected by the Executive Committee for the convention were elected.

"Nearly every Middle-of-the-Roader coming here rode on a pass. One delegate from Springfield had a blanket pass, and brought in 14 delegates with him. If we had passes at our command we could have had a much larger delegation."

ADJOURNED SINE DIE.

Senate and Congress Close With Great Demonstrations.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The House adjourned precisely at 2 o'clock. Immense cheering was followed by singing of patriotic songs. Representative Bromwell of Ohio, proposed three cheers for President McKinley which were given twice over by the Republicans. Then followed cheers joined by the entire House for Admiral Dewey and Gen. Joe Wheeler.

The whole House was one vast demonstration and flags were passed about to every member and were enthusiastically waved while the members sang the close of the 55th Congress.

The Senate adjourned sine die at 2:06 p. m.

THE MILLIONS PROVIDED BY CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Congress has been very busy in this last session finding money for successfully waging war against Spain.

The total appropriations by Congress footed almost $900,000,000, and upwards of $350,000,000 of this was for purely war purposes. It was the largest aggregate by any session since the Civil War and the general deficiency was the largest separate measure since the $750,000,000 appropriation in 1863.

The naval appropriation bill provided for three new battleships, four monitors, sixteen torpedo boat destroyers, twelve torpedo boats and one gunboat. The urgent deficiency bills all carried provisions for aggressive work in the prosecution of the war. The general deficiency, enacted in the last days, carried a provision for refunding the indebtedness of the Central and Western Pacific Railroads to the Government.

One feature of the session was the enactment of the war revenue law. Its framers expected it to produce $150,000,000.

HANNIBAL, Mo., July 8.—William Bradshaw, alias William Floence, was arrested in this city to-day and will be taken to Troy, Lincoln County, where he is wanted for arson and horse stealing. He and another negro burned a building in Troy Thursday, then stole a horse and buggy and made their escape. The other negro and horse and buggy were captured last evening. It may be that both negroes will meet with summary vengeance, as the citizens of Troy are very much worked up over the affair.

CONFEDERATE OF WILCOX, WHOM THE POST-DISPATCH EXPOSED.

DARING OPERATIONS IN ST. LOUIS CITY.

Clever Plans by Which Wilcox and His Confederates Designed to Fleece the Unwary and Beat the Government.

The arrest of William H. Shaw, alias Mason, at Milwaukee, by secret service officers rounds up the leaders of a gang of coin sweaters, one of the shrewdest members of which the Post-Dispatch exposed on June 26, last.

On that date the Post-Dispatch published exclusively the discovery that "James Williams," a Federal prisoner at the jail, was W. L. Wilcox, a notorious ex-convict.

The full plan of his operations here in connection with Mason was printed by the Post-Dispatch and the facts brought out at that time led directly to the arrest of Mason.

Williams, or Wilcox, came to St. Louis and rented a lodging at 1722 Washington avenue. He advertised for some one to put $500 or $1000 into a scheme he had. The scheme was ostensibly the extraction of gold from ore by a new and cheap method, but it was, of course, only a blind with which he expected to swindle his victims.

The advertisement was answered by hundreds of persons. Among these was Henry Kern of 2954 Dickson street, who negotiated with Wilcox and was on the point of turning over $500 to him to put into the scheme when his suspicions were aroused by Wilcox' queer actions, and the intended victim drew off.

Wilcox was most plausible. He used chemicals on the ore, producing a button which jewelers pronounced pure gold.

Wilcox was arrested by Officers Flynn and Kennedy at a saloon at Fifteenth and Biddle streets, where he had attempted to pass a $20 gold piece which the saloonist thought was counterfeit.

The police were in ignorance of the importance of their capture until the Post-Dispatch printed Wilcox' record. He was found to be one of the most expert coin sweaters and rimmers in the country.

The arrest of Shaw at Milwaukee will probably break up as dangerous a gang of coin-sweaters as ever the Federal Government had to deal with.

The representation will be as follows: Seventh Ward, 10 delegates; Eighth, 11 delegates; Ninth, 15; Tenth, 16; Eleventh, 12; Twelfth, 12; Franklin County, 19; St. Louis County, 31.

The last day for filing delegations will be Saturday, July 17. The last day for objections and withdrawals will be July 20.

PAINFUL INJURY TO LIEUT. W. S. JOHNS.

Gen. Grant Given a New Command, Leaving Col. Batdorf in Charge of a Brigade—Personal News From Camp Thomas.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICKAMAUGA, Ga., July 8.—"Big Jim" found the 5th Missouri Regiment this morning, and trousers pockets so long strangers to money are stuffed with crisp new bills fresh from the United States Treasury. Before noon the paymaster had completed his job in Col. Moore's command. The delay in paying the 5th was occasioned by Col. Glenn running short of funds. He discovered this yesterday morning and immediately notified Washington. The Government responded promptly and after the loss of but a few hours the work was pushed to completion. To-night will find Col. Glenn's task done.

Extra precautions have been taken by all commanders to guard against outbreaks, or other disturbances. Strong guards have been placed about canteens and on the roads to Lytle. At the depot Gen. Brooke has established a dead line. No soldier without the proper pass is permitted to go through, and an attempt to run the guards means a bullet. On the whole the troops have been well behaved and no disturbances of the magnitude contemplated have occurred. The boys have few grievances against each other and the general programme is a good, law-abiding time.

Last night a wagon load of Kentucky soldiers with a full demijohn attempted to run over the 5th guard line. The 30 rounders were clapped in the guard house and their whisky seized. They were released this morning.

Col. Morgan received a letter from Gov. Stephens this morning, in which the Governor said it would be impossible for him to make a visit to Chickamauga at this time, owing to ill health.

Lieut. W. S. Johns, Company D, 2d Regiment, narrowly escaped death in a runaway last night. He had been to Lytle with Judge W. S. Johns was going back to camp in a buggy, when the horse became frightened and dashed over an embankment, throwing the officer head first into a pile of rocks. # RAILWAY ASSESSMENT.

ROADS TO BE VALUED HEREAFTER AS A WHOLE INSTEAD OF BY MILES.

STATE BOARD'S NEW MOVE.

It Will Hear the Representatives of Electric Street Railroad Companies July 12 to 15.

As a result of the recent victory of the Attorney-General in the State Supreme Court against the street railway companies of Missouri, the State Board of Equalization at Jefferson City discussed the adoption of a plan by which it could most accurately make the assessments under the act giving it such power, which was passed by the last Legislature.

The Attorney-General prepared a resolution setting out the course, and submitted it to the board. The board took the plan under advisement and adjourned until next Tuesday at which time it will probably adopt the resolution, which is as follows:

Section 5, article 10, of the Constitution of the State of Missouri of 1875 provides, "All railroad corporations in this State or doing business therein shall be subject to taxation for State, county, school, municipal and other purposes on real and personal property owned or used by them and on their gross earnings, their net earnings, their franchises and their capital stock."

Section 7510, R. S. of Missouri, 1889, defines the term property to mean and include, as used in the taxing laws of this State, every tangible or intangible thing being the subject of ownership, whether animate or inanimate, real and personal.

Article 10, section 4 of the Constitution of 1875, provides, "All property subject to taxation shall be taxed in proportion to its value."

The Supreme Court of the United States in Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis R. R. vs. Backus, 154 U. S., 444, has decided that "the true value of a line of railroad is something more than the aggregation of the value of the separate parts of it operated separately." It is the aggregation of these values plus that arising from a connected operation of the whole; and each part of the road contributes not merely the value arising from its independent operation, but its mileage proportion of that following from the continuous and connected operation of the whole. Now, when a road runs into two States, each State is entitled to consider as within its territorial jurisdiction, subject to the burden of its taxes, what may perhaps not inaccurately be described as a proportionate share of the value following from the operation of the entire mileage as a single continuous road. It is not bound to enter upon a disintegration of the value and attempt to extract from the total value of the entire property that which would exist if the number of miles of the road within the State were operated separately. That an assessing board of the State officials seeking to assess for purposes of taxation a part of the railroad within a State, the other part of which is in an adjoining State, may ascertain the value of the whole line as a single property and then determine the value of that within the State upon the mileage basis; and the State board in assessing said property, in order to keep within the limits of State jurisdiction, need not treat the part of the road within the State as an independent line disconnected from the part without.

Therefore, Be it resolved by the State Board of Equalization of the State of Missouri that in assessing the railroad property within this State this board will determine the value of such property by ascertaining the value of the whole line as a single, continuous property, and then determine the value of the portion of the line within the State upon the basis of the number of miles in the State of Missouri, as compared with the mileage in other States.

And that in determining the value of a railroad whose line or lines is wholly within this State, that this board will ascertain the value of the whole line as a single property.

On the 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th of this month the board will hear all the electric street railway companies of this State relative to the value and assessment for the taxes of 1898 under the law of 1897.

AFRAID OF PUBLIC DEBATE.

Mark Chartrand Refused to Meet Cannon on Amendments.

The lack of faith of the charter amendments rooters in their own cause is strikingly illustrated by the refusal of Mark Chartrand and his friends to go into a joint debate in the Twenty-second Ward with the Twenty-second Ward Democratic Club.

The club had intended to hold a meeting in opposition to the amendments at Roberts Garden, Twenty-ninth and Olive street, Friday night, but through an oversight the garden was not spoken for until Mr. Chartrand had secured it.

Mr. T. D. Cannon immediately conceived the idea of holding a joint debate, and thus giving the voters the benefit of the fullest discussion. He proposed the debate to Mr. Chartrand, but the offer was declined. The meeting in opposition has been abandoned as a consequence.

NO PEACE BY PROXY.

Diplomats Informed That Propositions Must Come Direct From the Spanish Government.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The President has told the Ambassadors of several powers, who approached him unofficially, that no peace proposition would be considered unless made direct by the Madrid Government. Secretary Day has maintained from the outset that no intermediation will be tolerated.

This information the inquiring diplomats forwarded to their home governments, which in turn conveyed it to Premier Sagasta.

Despite bombastic utterances, it is known that for a month Sagasta has been looking for a pretext to propose peace. He has been deterred only by fear of the Spanish people, who certainly would have revolted had the negotiations been pending while Spain had a fleet on this side of the Atlantic.

According to the information furnished the Post-Dispatch correspondent by a high official, the return of Cuba, the Philippines or Porto Rico will not be considered. Porto Rico will be retained by the United States because of its great strategic value. The policy with reference to the Philippines has not been determined, but judging from the active preparations being made, they will be under the rule of the United States for a considerable time. The officers of the army sent there were semi-officially informed that in preparing for departure it would be well to arrange to remain abroad for a protracted period.

President McKinley and Secretary Day are determined that Spain shall pay a heavy indemnity and bear the expenses of the war.

Diplomats here refuse absolutely to be quoted in discussing propositions, but from conversations it is believed that France was the prime mover in coercing Spain in the reported efforts for peace. Diplomats say that France was not anxious about the welfare of Spain, but actuated solely by the large financial holdings, which are depreciating every day of the war. Other European powers have also indicated to Spain that the time for peace is at hand.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Lieut. Colwell, military attache in London, has cabled the President that he is advised by persons in high official position that Spain will sue for peace within a week. It is said France and Austria have told Spain that her losses have reached the limit permissible and that she must end the war as soon as possible. As a preliminary step, Premier Sagasta will be dismissed and a cabinet under Gen. Campos will be formed, it is reported.

SPAIN MAY SOON ASK ARMISTICE.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1898, by the Press Publishing Co.)

LONDON, July 8.—It is said here that Spain will ask for an armistice by the end of the week.

The English Cabinet met again to-day, giving rise to a report that Prime Minister Salisbury had received an important communication respecting peace from the British Ambassador at Madrid, but this was subsequently denied on official authority. It has been made perfectly clear to Spain by the European powers that the initiative rests with her.

SPECULATORS ANTICIPATE THE END.

LONDON, July 8.—Spanish 4s went up in Paris and London to-day on the report that negotiations are proceeding between Madrid and Washington, with the view of bringing about peace between Spain and the United States. The Stock Exchange rumor had it that the peace negotiations were being conducted through British intermediaries.

This is denied at the foreign office here, where the officials say that there are no indications anywhere that peace is being negotiated.

RUSSIA PROPOSES INTERVENTION.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 8.—The Russian officials and the general public here are strongly in favor of speedy peace as the only salvation for Spain, and the newspapers recommend the intervention of Europe to compel a cessation of hostilities. It is asserted that if any power directly interested in the fate of Spain or the United States proposed mediation or initiated intervention she would certainly have Russia's approval.

NO PEACE OVERTURES YET.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Secretary Day, when he entered the Cabinet meeting to-day, said that no peace overtures of any kind whatever had yet been received.

Finley Malachi Hull Claims to Be an Inspired Prophet.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 8.—Finley Malachi Hull came here to-day from some place in Missouri and claims to be the prophet of God. He says he is ruler of all the churches in the world. He preaches in the street and attracts large crowds. The prophet is about 30 years of age and not well dressed, and says he has been working on a farm and following the same life led by Christ.

BREAKING THE NEWS SLOWLY.

Spanish Ministry in Great Fear of Public Ire Over Cervera's Defeat.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1898, by the Press Publishing Co.)

MADRID, Wednesday night, July 6, via frontier, July 7.—Indignation is increasing among all classes of Spaniards against Admiral Cervera and the commanders and crew of his fleet.

It is openly charged that the ships were not well fought; that the honor of the flag was not sufficiently defended. The public and press clamor for a rigid investigation and condign punishment.

The Queen cried bitterly when she first heard the news, according to court gossip, but manifested great displeasure when she heard all the details of the sea fight off Santiago. She has again quietly consulted Marshals Campos, Lopez, Dominguez and Primo de Rivera, Gen. Calleja, the Captain-General of Madrid, and Senor Silvela, the Chief of the Conservatives.

Friends of the dynasty agree with Premier Sagasta that the war must be continued for some time longer, under the conduct of Senor Sagasta, and with his present colleagues, if it is possible, in order to allay the popular and military discontent.

Steps have been taken already to break the expected news slowly, especially in the provinces, where the irritation and discontent are more intense even than in Madrid. The Carlists are most dreaded in the north and east of the kingdom; the Republicans in Barcelona, Madrid and Bilboa.

The Queen seems determined to form a military government if Sagasta proves too weak for the emergency.

ARREST OF WEYLER CONTEMPLATED.

LONDON, July 8.—Extraordinary military precautions have been taken to quell any internal troubles.

"Gen. Correa, the Minister for War, and his secretaries are working day and night. A second call has been issued for the Canary Island reserves and additional forces of home infantry and cavalry are being raised, while the artillery is being augmented by two pieces to each battery.

"The Peninsula armies will total up 220,000 men by July 15. The railroads are preparing war trains on all lines, and carriages are in readiness at all the garrison stations.

"The officers, too, while anxious for war, are divided on the question of loyalty to the various claimants to the throne. It is believed the Government is anxious to find a pretext to arrest Gen. Weyler, fearing the part he might play in the event of trouble breaking out."

DRESSED SHIP JULY 4.

Dewey and the American Troops Patriotically Observed the National Holiday at Cavite.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

Copyright by the Press Publishing Company, 1898.

MANILA BAY, Philippine Islands, July 4, by way of Honk Kong, China, July 8.—The Fourth of July is being celebrated here on the bay and shore as this dispatch is forwarded to the Post-Dispatch.

The United States troops from San Francisco have been landed at Cavite.

Gen. Anderson, in command of the first American expedition to arrive, established his headquarters on the grounds of the arsenal captured from the Spaniards.

Regular guard and patrol duty was carried out immediately.

The most striking feature of the celebration ashore was a review of the troops by Gen. Anderson and Admiral Dewey.

The American fleet dressed ship and the foreign warships in the bay did likewise in compliment. Salutes were fired at noon.

The Spanish transport Manila has been captured. She is fitted with two 4.7-inch quick-firing guns, and will be valuable to Admiral Dewey for river work. Lieutendant-Commander Singer, from the Raleigh, has been put in command of her.

The story of an explosion on the cruiser Baltimore was pure fabrication.

There are persistent rumors that it is the desire of Governor-General Augusti to surrender Manila to the Americans, but the command of the Spanish troops is practically held by the Senior Colonel of Artillery, who opposes surrendering.

Heavy rains fall daily, but the health of the Americans continues good.

The rebels have captured the waterworks beyond Santa Mesa, which supply Manila, and the Spanish fear that their water will be cut off.

The rebels have also captured the strongly fortified positions of San Juan and Del Monte, where the Spaniards expected to make their last stand if Manila is captured.

The city is still surrounded by insurgents. There was fierce fighting Saturday before Malate, a suburb. The Spaniards had modern guns to command the rebel trenches and maintained a steady fire throughout the afternoon, but found it impossible to drive the natives out. Forty rebels were killed. The Spaniards finally were driven back.

The food supply o[illegible]nila is growing shorter.

The feeling of the [illegible]iards against the British is bitter. A recent issue of the Manila paper cor[illegible] an attack on Colonial Secretary Chamberlain for his speech in favor of the [illegible]ans.

Four Persons Dead and Several Missing From Stanberry, Mo.

STANBERRY, Mo., July 8.—Four persons are known to have been drowned as the result of a cloudburst west of here last night. Others are missing. A wall of water sweeping down a little creek had carried everything before it. Several farmhouses were demolished and their occupants drowned.

The bodies of John Sheridan, Charles Smith and Mrs. H. Smith have been recovered. The entire family of J. Davis are missing and are supposed to have been drowned. The loss of live stock is heavy. Floods are reported throughout Northwestern Missouri.

A SUFFICIENT WARNING.

What is there in it for the men who are fighting to carry the Charter amendments?

This is a fair question, in view of the costly and laborious efforts of officeholders and machine bosses to jam through amendments to the Charter.

The issue of the Charter amendments concerns most of all the taxpayers. Yet we find a great army of taxeaters working with might and main to carry the amendments at the polls. A huge conspiracy has been formed of all the taxeaters, spoilsmen, grabbing contractors and grabbers generally to pass a law permitting the unlimited assessment of special taxes for various purposes.

If there is no gain for street railway managers, no spoils for the bosses and heelers, no plums for contractors, no plunder for rascals, why the organized and costly efforts of these men to force the amendments down the people's throats? Why should men who expect to get nothing out of the results of an election contribute money, time and labor to carry it?

The forces lined up on the side of the Charter amendments and the kind of work they are doing are sufficient warning for the people.

On the charter amendments the whole duty of voters in the protection of the property of the people from the spoilsmen may be summed up in the counsel—Vote; Vote NO; Scratch YES.

THE HAWAIIAN PROBLEM.

Hawaii is now practically under the flag and sovereignty of the United States. The irrevocable step has been taken and we must make the best of it.

We shall have enough to do to meet the perplexing questions sure to arise. The majority of the Hawaiian people are hopeless barbarians, utterly incapable of self-government and unable even to understand the notion of ordered freedom. As citizens they are a bad lot, but if the islands are brought in as a State, they will have to be reckoned with.

Special interests, which pushed the scheme through, will, of course, preside over the selection of Senators and Representatives, and we may expect the agents of the Sugar Trust and other monopolies to appear on the floor of Congress to augment the power of Hanna and the Standard Oil Senators.

It is not a pleasant prospect, but the American people seem equal to all political emergencies. They will probably find a rational solution of this Hawaiian problem, but what will be the effect of continued additions of such elements to the body politic? Where will imperialism take us?

---

Tuesday next is the decisive day in the history of municipal government in St. Louis. There should be a Waterloo defeat for the $20,000,000 plunder scheme.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION.

While it is well to prosecute the rascals who may attempt to carry the Charter amendments by fraud, it is wiser to prepare to prevent the commission of frauds.

In order to prevent the casting of thousands of fraudulent votes by the various gangs enlisted in the work of foisting upon St. Louis a scheme of vast plunder, it is necessary for the citizens opposing the scheme to take vigorous steps to prevent frauds.

The fight against rascality in this election will be harder than in the ordinary election. The heelers and thugs are all on one side. The stake is the largest ever played for by public plunderers. The success of the scheme will mean millions of spoils for years to come.

Citizens must be on guard. They must watch and vote. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

---

The safe return of so brave and capable a seaman as Hobson brings joy to the whole country, and it gives us a better opinion of his captors.

MACHINERY AND NEW CALLINGS.

Whether or not invention and the use of machinery produce new occupations to an extent that makes up for the displacement of labor by such invention and use of machinery is a question that is being hotly discussed at this time.

Carroll D. Wright, in the opening of his career as a Labor Statistician, was an alarmist, and published tables showing that there had been a displacement of labor by machinery in the United States in twelve years, in the principal industrial callings, amounting to 75 per cent.

Later on Mr. Wright grew conservative, and in a recent article asserted that "so-called labor saving machines really make labor in the aggregate," because new callings, such as telegraphy, the manufacture and sale of bicycles, etc., come into existence through man's inventiveness.

A writer, C. Wood Davis, in the July Forum, controverts this assertion, and supports his statements by an array of statistics. Among other interesting figures cited is a table that gives the "labor units" displaced by farm machinery, as compared with the labor units given employment by so-called new vocations.

Mr. Davis says these figures are taken from the census, and show that while 4,430,000 labor units have been displaced by farm machinery, only 247,000 labor units are found, as an offset, engaged in such new callings as stenography, telegraphy, bicycle making, street railway work, etc.

Machinery has come to stay. If the statisticians are able to prove that its use under present conditions has been injurious to the workers by diminishing their opportunities for employment, it will be necessary to discover the conditions under which it can be used so as to injure no one. The developments of the next ten years will probably give us the necessary facts upon which to work in settling the problem.

---

There is no doubt of the sincere fervor of the wish of the boodlers in the Municipal Assembly that they had the power to drive the Post-Dispatch out of town. The truth is hateful to rascals and if the Post-Dispatch's searchlight were extinguished there would be joy in every human rat hole in St. Louis, including, especially, one from which a disreputable boodle organ is issued.

"LEST WE FORGET."

President McKinley has good ground upon which to base the keynote of his proclamation of thanksgiving that the God of Hosts is with the American forces.

Admiral Dewey's squadron passed through the storm of shot and shell in Manila harbor to a glorious victory without the loss of a ship or a man.

In Schley's brilliant achievement at Santiago his own flagship was struck 45 times and the other ships were repeatedly struck, yet only one man was killed, and the ships were uninjured.

In the engagement which resulted in the sinking of the last ship in Santiago harbor a shell entered the wardroom of the Iowa, but the men were at the guns and no injury was done to ship or men.

In all the naval engagements of the war both ships and men on our side have been singularly preserved from hurt.

Gen. Shafter's victories were accompanied with serious losses, but they were small, in view of the conditions of the fighting.

Intelligence and skill are pitted against ignorance and unskillfulness. Righteousness is fighting oppression. But the difference of losses is so great that even the Government experts of Italy found occasion to say that the "United States is an instrument in the hands of Providence."

Thrice armed in the strength of a righteous cause, we achieve noble ends almost unscathed. But shall it be so if, thrusting aside liberty and humanity as our arms, we seek conquest and imperial extension?

Standing on the verge of a new era, with might to enforce the right, we have reason to pray:

Lord God of Hosts be with us yet,
Lest we forget!

---

Mayor Ziegenhein's threat to sell the Waterworks should be to every voter sufficient evidence of the dangers that menace us in the present administration. Men of all parties should unite without a moment's delay to save the city from these wholly unscrupulous plunderers.

---

With his La Quasina ambush record, Roosevelt may easily be Governor of New York, but he might make a good deal of trouble at Albany, because he is a restless reformer, and reform is not what is wanted by New York politicians of either party.

---

It is very kind of Senator Davis to admit the honest purposes and conscientious opinions of the opponents of the Hawaiian iniquity. Such toleration by the supporters of a most rascally piece of legislation is refreshing.

---

It appears that passengers on French liners are murdered before they can seize an opportunity to save themselves. Here is an additional ocean peril that must be taken into account by travelers.

---

The Charter should never be amended but in a clear, unmistakable way, and that way should be one for the benefit of the city, and not for the perpetuation of a vicious political machine.

---

Pelting the wreck of the Maine is now the only pleasure left to the Spaniards in Havana, and that will be short-lived.

The royal family at Madrid is now in more peril than any of the poor Cuban families outside the Spanish lines.

WHY CHARTER AMENDMENTS SHOULD BE DEFEATED.

The principal reasons for the defeat of the Charter amendments to be submitted to the voters of St. Louis next Tuesday may be summed up in the following four objections:

1. All limits to the amount of special taxes have been removed. Heretofore such taxes have been limited to 25 per cent of the assessed value of the property; hereafter they may reach the full market value of the property.

2. The right of effectual protest by the taxpayer, given by the Charter as it now stands, is wholly taken away. A majority of one in the Board of Public Improvements, and a like majority in the Assembly, is all that is needed to neutralize even a unanimous remonstrance.

3. The range of subjects for special taxation is strongly increased. Street grading, street cleaning, and the cost of public sewers, heretofore borne by the public at large, will hereafter be charged in special taxes against the adjacent property.

4. The new methods of procedure and of taxation are certain to entail prolonged litigation, to promote corruption and to retard the growth of the city.

OBJECTIONS BY PROMINENT CITIZENS.

GEN. JOHN W. TURNER, former Street Commissioner: The proposed amendments, while abolishing the 25 per cent restriction, fix no limit where taxation shall stop, but subjects your property to a taxation of its full assessed value. This I believe to be wrong. A limitation can be fixed which will cover every needed improvement. In my own judgment this limit need not exceed 40 per cent to cover all needed improvements. If this be true, why not say so in the Charter? Let the property owner feel that he has some protection as against unnecessary taxation.

CHARLES NAGEL, former President of the City Council: I am unqualifiedly opposed to the proposed Charter amendments, because the possibilities of evil under their provisions are so much greater than the possibilities of good.

CHARLES F. VOGEL: We are experiencing the hardest times in St. Louis since 1893, and the time is most inopportune for an increase in the burdens of taxation. A worse condition is sure to follow if the amendments now before the people should be adopted, and especially would it be a hardship, and, in many cases ruinous, to the small property holders, to the man with a 25-foot lot, and a small house on it, located generally in a district where the streets are not made.

HENRY BLACKMORE, President of the Central Trades and Labor Union: The changes give to the Municipal Assembly, when recommended by the Board of Public Improvements, the power to assess property for public improvements, without fixing any limit, and this power, I believe, will place such a burden of taxes upon small homes, that many of them will be lost to the present owners, as the power to tax property without limit is the power to destroy.

HENRY HITCHCOCK, the well-known attorney: These amendments, if adopted, will strike out of the charter some of its most important safeguards against reckless and oppressive legislation. They will establish a new and extravagant system of street improvement, without providing any limit as to its extent or cost.

HENRY HIEMENZ, JR., real estate agent: Property owners and tenants should join hands against the proposed Charter amendments, as it will certainly affect the interests of both to that extent as to make it extremely burdensome. The owner will be compelled to increase the rent in order to pay the required tax. It is an established fact that the consumer invariably pays the bill. The consumer in this case being the tenant, who gets no money in return for what he pays. The special tax bill of the proposed amendments has some of the most obnoxious and dangerous features.

JUDGE R. E. ROMBAUER: I have carefully read the Charter amendments, with a view of forming an intelligent opinion touching their merits, both from a legal and from an economical standpoint. I condemn them on both accounts.

The amendments place the property of the citizen at the mercy of a limited number of officials, vesting them with a power, which may not, but which certainly can be abused, and that without giving to the parties aggrieved any means of redress.

Even ROBERT E. McMATH, President of the Board of Public Improvements, said: "There are many things in the amendments that I would like to see eliminated, and there are many things left out that I would like to see in them."

GALLANT THIRD CAVALRY.

Six Out of Nineteen Officers and Forty-Five Privates Wounded.

The revised list of the wounded in the 3d Cavalry, part of which was stationed at Jefferson Barracks before the war began, has reached St. Louis. It shows that six out of 19 officers were wounded, three privates killed and 45 wounded.

No mention is made of Maj. Wessells, Capt. George H. Morgan and Lieut. J. T. Conrad among the wounded, but a letter to Mrs. Hunter from Capt. George K. Hunter says the Major was slightly wounded. He is still in command however. Capt. Hunter will arrive at home Monday. His wound is not dangerous.

The most seriously wounded among the officers is First Lieutenant Orin B. Meyer, who was shot in the right hip and groin.

Definite news of this kind will be welcome to the women at Jefferson Barracks, who have suffered agonies of apprehension and suspense since the first indefinite reports were published.

The 3d was in the terrible charge on San Juan hill. The conduct of all officers and men was gallant beyond expression.

The list is as follows:

Killed—Dr. Danforth, Trumpeter Thomas Peal, Privates Dan A. Cobley and Wesley C. Rolo.

Wounded—Capt. George A. Dodd, in head by glancing ball.

First Lieut. A. C. Mouillet, slightly injured in cheek.

First Lieut. C. B. Myer, right hip and groin.

Capt. George K. Hunter, flesh wound in the thigh.

First Lieut. Arthur Thayer, recovering.

THANKSGIVING SUNDAY.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 8.—The following proclamation was issued by Gov. Stephens last night:

Executive Department, State of Missouri, Jefferson City, July 7, 1898. —To the People of Missouri: The President of the United States has issued a proclamation under date of July 6, calling upon all the people of this land, in view of the glorious achievements of the naval and military arms of our country in the Bay of Manila and at Santiago de Cuba, to "reverently bow before the throne of divine grace and give devout praise to God, who holdeth the nations in the hollow of his hand." The President further asks the people of the United States to observe this service of praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God upon their next assembling for divine worship in their respective places of meeting.

As chief executive of the Commonwealth of Missouri, I join most heartily in these recommendations. On the coming Sunday let all our sanctuaries be filled with grateful and reverent worshipers of the ever-living God, whose favor alone can make our nation happy, free, victorious.

The invincible courage and deathless patriotism of the American soldier and sailor, as shown afresh within the past two months, cover our national name with new luster. The victors of Saratoga and Yorktown reach out hands across a whole century to their fellow-conquerors at Manila and Santiago.

Our fervent thanks are due to him who has nerved the American soldier and sailor for the fiery ordeal, and who has shielded our men so graciously in the awful crisis of battle.

Along with thanks to God, let prayers ascend that speedily the devastating war may terminate and the cause of humanity and justice receive the amplest vindication.

LON V. STEPHENS, Governor.

KANSAS GIRL'S ROMANCE.

Mrs. Kate Allen's Pathetic Story of Desertion and Shame.

Mrs. Kate Allen is at the City Hospital painfully regretting a romantic marriage. She is a morphine sufferer. Not long ago she was a happy country girl, living with her parents in Miami County, Kan. A flashily dressed young fellow, supposed to have great wealth, came along and won her heart. She fled with him.

After it was too late the unsophisticated Kansas girl learned that her husband was only a common gambler. They drifted to St. Louis and secured quarters at 1004 Walnut street. There she was deserted.

Wednesday night she fell into the clutches of the police and was before Judge Peabody Thursday, charged with being an inmate. She made no attempt at defense and only hung her head in shame when a $20 fine was imposed.

While awaiting transfer to the Workhouse Thursday night she took a dose of morphine, not with suicidal intent, but simply to drown her sorrow, she said. Her condition was discovered and Officer Rowe took her to the City Hospital. She is receiving treatment for the morphine habit, which she says she contracted at the suggestion of her husband.

The young woman will probably make an effort to return to her Kansas home as soon as she is able to leave the hospital.

TWO POPULIST TICKETS.

Middle-of-the-Roaders and Fusionists Squarely Divided.

At the Middle-of-the-Roaders' State Convention Thursday afternoon the following State ticket was nominated:

Supreme Judge, for the long term, Judge John M. Voris of Chillicothe; Supreme Judge, for the short term, A. H. Livingston of West Plains; Railway and Warehouse Commissioner, J. H. Hillis of Atchison County; Superintendent of Public Schools, John D. Brown of Jackson County. Mr. Hillis was the last Populist candidate for Lieutenant-Governor.

For National Committeemen, Paul Dixon, J. N. Hillis and Thomas Day were selected.

A resolution was adopted condemning Gov. Stephens for vetoing the Slater assessment bill.

The fusionists nominated the following ticket:

Supreme Judge, long term, S. A. Handy; Supreme Judge, short term, J. M. McCall; Railroad Commissioner, Dr. J. R. Smith; Superintendent of Education, J. D. Elleff.

Secretary M. V. Carroll introduced a resolution commending Gov. Stephens for his appointment of Populists to office, but it met with such a storm of disapproval that Mr. Carroll at once withdrew it.

Arthur Rozelle, Owen Miller and W. R. Littell were chosen National Committeemen.

SICK AND DESTITUTE.

Mrs. Freda Hertzog and Four Children at the Hospital.

Mrs. Freda Hertzog, a widow with four little children, was sent to the City Hospital late Thursday to be treated for malaria. The woman came to St. Louis from Illinois last week and went to live with her sister, Mrs. Conrad Strasser, at 114 South Tenth street.

Strasser called at the hospital Friday and took Oscar, aged 10, and Fred, aged 9, away with him, the other two children, Philip, aged 2, and Rose, aged 4, remaining with the mother. Mrs. Hertzog is destitute. Her husband died last August in East St. Louis. He was a brewery workman.

FOUND IN THE RIVER BED.

Little John Schaeffer Drowned at Ste. Genevieve, Mo.

The body of John Schaeffer of 1913 Congress street was found in the river at St. Genevieve, Mo. Thursday. The boy had been missing for over a week and no trace of him could be found.

He had gone to St. Genevieve with his mother on a visit and when last heard of had gone out for a walk. The impression is that he fell into the river by accident.

GAME DEALERS' EXCURSION.

Down the River With the Commission Merchants.

The annual excursion of the St. Louis Commission Merchants' and Game Dealers' Association Saturday promises to be one of the big pleasure events of the season.

The excursion will start on the City of Providence from the foot of Olive street at 10 o'clock. Bands and orchestras will be all over the boat. At Montesano Springs everybody will go ashore and take part in races and contests of every kind.

Family Sick and Penniless.

Mrs. Freda Hertzog of East St. Louis is dangerously ill at the City Hospital from malaria. She is accompanied by her four little children and was on her way to St. Luke's Home at Kirkwood when attacked with fever.

COLBY DOESN'T CARE.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR SEWERS REDUCED, BUT WORK WILL BE DONE.

HE KNOWS HOW TO MANAGE.

When the Money Is Exhausted He Will Discharge All the Push in the Sewer Department.

There is one man at the City Hall who does not worry when the heavy thinkers of the Council cut down appropriations for necessary works in order to leave plenty for push inspectors. He is Sewer Commissioner Colby.

The Council Tuesday calmly cut down the appropriation for the sewer department $15,000. Of this, $10,000 was knocked off of the estimate for salaries and current expenses and $5000 off of that for work on the Mill Creek Sewer. The last item was reduced over the strenuous protest of Assistant Comptroller Gabel, who pointed out that unless the work was done there would certainly be another cave-in, which would increase the cost of reconstruction a hundred-fold, besides making the city liable for damage to private property.

The Council was in a penny-wise mood, and the appropriation was turned down.

Sewer Commissioner Colby was asked Friday what would be the effect of the Council's action.

"No effect at all," he said. "The work on the Mill Creek sewer will be done, and it will be paid for. It makes not a particle of difference what the Council does with the appropriation bill. The work is imperatively necessary and if the money for it is not appropriated it will be done as emergency work, and it will have to be paid for out of funds appropriated for other purposes. I do not care a straw what is done with the appropriation or how much it is scaled. The necessary work in my department will be done.

"The cutting down of my estimates for salaries and running expenses gives me no concern, either. I figured the expenses of my department down to the lowest penny. The department cannot be run for any less. But I would not go a step out of my way to influence the Council. I have no relatives or friends in the department. I will go right along until all the money for running the department is exhausted, and when there is no more money to pay wages to workmen, I will discharge them all and let the sewers fill up.

"The last Assembly gave my department less money than it needed, and when there was no more money I discharged all the men. The discharged men went after their friends in the Assembly. A meeting was held in a hurry to pass an ordinance appropriating more money. The gas went out, but they sent out for candles rather than postpone action."

MARRIED THE DOCTOR.

Dr. C. M. Von Kadich Wedded to Mrs. Dinah Geh.

Dr. C. M. von Kadich and Mrs. Dinah Geh were quietly married at Clayton by Justice Greenfelder at an hour in the night which was somewhat later than is customary in such cases.

The doctor and Mrs. Geh have been prominent for some time, owing to the dislike of Mr. Geh for the doctor. Recently Mr. Geh applied for a warrant for Von Kadich's arrest, charging him with practicing as a physician without authority. This case was dropped and shortly after the whole cause of the trouble appeared, and when Mr. Geh filed a suit for divorce against his wife. The divorce has been granted and now Mrs. Geh runs a millinery store in opposition to that of her former husband.

THE OBLIGING MR. ROSS.

It is just about as easy for certain actors to divorce themselves from certain roles or a particular line of business as it is for a reformed convict to live down his jail record. Goodwin has almost grown bald-headed trying to persuade the public to accept him in something else besides broad comedy, and Henry Dixey has confessed his inability to draw large houses except in burlesque. The public refuses to go to see Lewis Morrison in anything but "Faust," and Denman Thompson would play to empty chairs if he attempted to act any other character than Josh Whitcomb. James O'Neill in "Monte Cristo"—but the list is too long to go over here. Charlie Ross, out at the Suburban this week, knows how it is himself, as was shown the other evening when he was introduced to a number of gentlemen after the performance.

"I am glad to meet you, Mr. Ross," said one of them, who was from Kansas City. "I saw you some years ago, and came out here to-night expecting to see you in"——

"Excuse me, my dear fellow," broke in Mr. Ross. "I know what you are going to say. You came out here expecting to see me in imitations of celebrated actors. Well, sir, I passed up those imitations five years ago. But everywhere I go I'm asked to "do" them again. Folks seem to think I can't do anything but imitate. You've heard what Nat Goodwin said to a certain young man who was giving a 'correct imitation'—they are always 'correct imitations'—of Goodwin in 'The Nominee,' haven't you? The comedian dryly observed that 'one of us must be a —— bad actor.' It wasn't to me he was speaking, but I dropped the imitations after that."

However, Mr. Ross, who is an exceptionally clever mimic, consented to break his rule and promised that he would introduce the imitations at his performance Friday evening—just to please his insistent admirers. He will be assisted by his talented wife, Mabel Fenton, and for this occasion only they have agreed to imitate anything and anybody, from Sir Henry Irving to Tony Pastor.

This is the last week of minstrelsy and vaudeville at the Suburban, the six weeks of Shakspearean plays planned by the management opening Sunday night. The bill will be "The Merry Wives of Windsor," with Edmund W. Lyons, Minnie Seligman, Henry Jewett, Frank Losee, Lawrence Hanley, Eleanor Guisti and Marion Elmore in the cast.

---

There are six vaudeville turns at Forest Park Highlands this week, each representing a different style of fun-making. Johnny Carroll starts the ball rolling with his topical songs and a cake-walking specialty in which Adelaide Crawford assists. May Cook sandwiches an entertaining "coon" song between her classical selections and astonishes the audience by responding to encores with a cornet solo. Windom, the counter-tenor, and his Blackstone quartette go in for more patriotism than fun, but they have some good songs in their repertoire. The Hungarian Knaben Kapelle is concluding its farewell engagement. Next week the Highlands will present a double vaudeville bill, including Barney Fagan and Henrietta Byron, Lucy Holman Hinchliffe, Carroll Johnson, Morton and Revelle, Vinie De Witt and the biograph with a new assortment of war pictures.

The Rossow Midgets, Irene Franklin and the vaudeville stars at Koerner's Park Theater this week have scored a great hit. Little Charles Rossow was loudly applauded by a big audience last night when he appeared dressed like Anna Held and singing her familiar songs. Among the stars to appear at Koerner's the week commencing Sunday night is Archie Boyd, who has more friends in St. Louis than any other man on the stage. Mr. Boyd is undoubtedly the most successful delineator of New England character at present before the public. He will appear at Koerner's in a 20-minute sketch assisted by Mr. Earle Sterling. Mr. Boyd has just returned to St. Louis after another season of success in the principal role of "Shore Acres."

Miss Josephine Newman, granddaughter of the late Socrates Newman, is the latest addition to the pretty girls in the chorus at Uhrig's Cave. Seats for the Saturday matinees at Uhrig's Cave will be reserved hereafter, but there will be increase in the price of admission. Next week the offering will be "The Royal Middy."

SATURDAY CLOSING.

GENERAL MOVEMENT IN FAVOR OF OBSERVING THE HALF-HOLIDAY.

READ THE LIST OF STORES.

Merchants Throughout the Down-Town Districts Approve the Humanitarian Plan.

The popularity of the Saturday closing movement is growing among proprietors as well as employes of the big retail houses of the city and new acquisitions to the list of those who will observe the half holiday plan are reported almost daily.

The proprietors all admit the advisability of giving their clerks a half day's extra rest in the week in the two hottest months of the year, believing that the renewed vigor of the following working days will more than compensate for the lost time.

The purpose of the Post-Dispatch in urging the Saturday closing movement has been purely humanitarian, and it is greatly pleased with the prompt and hearty response from the proprietors of stores who have seen their business way clear to the adoption of the suggestion. The enervating effects of a too steady and lengthy drain upon hard-working clerks are sure to show themselves in the labor performed, no matter how willing the clerk may be, and it is on this ground the proprietors of closing stores believe they will recoup themselves.

Among the recent acquisitions to the already long list of closing stores is that of L. E. Green & Son, milliners.

Mr. Green, in discussing his reasons for joining the movement, said he agreed with all that the Post-Dispatch has said in favor of the hardworking employes of the retail stores. He had made a study of the subject and had come to the conclusion that there could be no loss to his or any other house because of the half holiday closing in the hot weather of July and August. His house, he said, would stay in line to the end. Trade on Saturday afternoons, was, he said, already at a minimum and such as there was, he believed, could be easily induced to come in the morning. The vigor of the employes on Monday morning would make up for any possible loss.

Manager Konninski of the Model Cloak Co. is another who indorses the Saturday half holiday. He is greatly pleased with the united manner in which the big retail houses have decided to give a half day's rest to their working men and women. He has always been a believer in the movement and says he will be found in the line this year and in succeeding years, thoroughly confident that all proprietors will gain rather than lose by the movement.

In another column of the Post-Dispatch will be found an announcement signed by all the half holiday closing firms, urging purchasers who intend to do shopping Saturday to make their purchases in the morning. This, appearing to-day, will be repeated in each Friday's issue of the Post-Dispatch and with its changes by increase from time to time will serve as a guide to shoppers and prevent the disappointment of making a trip downtown only to find the stores closed. It will, indeed, be a reminder that it is just as easy to do buying in the morning and thus give the clerks a well earned afternoon's rest.

The job department of the Post-Dispatch has just turned out a lot of handsome early closing cards in patriotic colors. They will be given away to all who call for them at the counting room. The cards read: "We close at 1 o'clock Saturdays during July and August."

THREE MORE TRANSFERS.

Chief Campbell Rapidly Switching His Men About.

Chief Campbell has added three more transfers to the already long list of changes that have been made from time to time since he succeeded Maj. Harrigan.

Patrolman James Joyce, who for many years was a clerk at the Fourth District Station, and who was sent to the Central Station for night duty soon after Chief Campbell took charge, has been returned to the Fourth District, where he is again doing clerical duty.

John Haley, who was recently transferred from a clerical position in the Fifth District to a similar place in the Bertillon room, fills the vacancy created by the Joyce transfer.

Sidney Haley, recently appointed telephone operator at the Central switchboard, is now a probationary patrolman, assigned to clerical duty in the Third District.

These changes became effective Thursday, and there is much rumor as to when and where additional lightning will strike.

TALES FROM THE NEWS.

HER name written on an egg won a husband for a girl who possesses beauty and a marvelous history. In dreams she and the man who married her saw each other and when they met knew each other without introductions of any sort. Their love story is a rich romance and could only have occurred in the West, where they now have their home. You should read of them in the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

FIRECRACKERS were plentiful in St. Louis on July 4. Did you happen to see one 9 feet in diameter and 72 feet long? What a glorious boom it would have made! Talk of the bombardment of Cervera's ships by Schley's fleet—why, the far-away rumble of the 13, 12 and 8-inch guns was dull in comparison with this gigantic explosion. See the picture and story in the Sunday Post-Dispatch.

Where They Play.

St. Louis at Cleveland.
Cincinnati at Chicago.
Brooklyn at New York.
Boston at Philadelphia.
Louisville at Pittsburg.
Baltimore at Washington.

The St. Louis Browns are followed by tough luck wherever they go.

Yesterday, after pitching a great game, Taylor threw the ball a mile from first base, allowing Tebeau to score and losing the game in the last inning.

The final score was 6 to 5. The score shows that the game was a hard fought one, and only luck won it for the Indians.

Jones pitched for the Forest City boys and kept the hits well scattered.

Burkett scored a run on a hit to left by a wonderful slide. The game was very interesting and some very pretty plays were made by both teams.

The Browns play again at Cleveland to-day.

One week from to-day the Sportsman's Park and Club property, which includes among other things the St. Louis Browns, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder.

There are all sorts of stories told of syndicates being formed to buy the club, but Vondy promises to be there at the finish.

He is looking prosperous and happy these days and has evidently a trump up his sleeve which he proposes to play at the proper time. Of course if there is any one in St. Louis ready to pay Vondy's price he will stand aside, but he will run the property up to a big figure before letting go of it. He says to all questioners:

"When the club is sold I will be the purchaser."

And he makes this statement in a way that carries conviction with it.

The talk of there being several syndicates formed to buy the club is buncombe. The club could have been bought some time ago for a reasonable figure, but no one had the nerve to buy it. Now that Vondy is on his feet again ready and willing to go ahead as the proprietor and manager of the club these syndicates will likely evaporate, and the old "bo[illegible]" president will buy the property in at [illegible] own price. But next Friday will t[illegible] the tale, and the talked of syndicates w[illegible]ave to show up or forever after remain in oblivion.

"I never saw su[illegible] improvement in a player as there is in Jimmie Ryan," remarked Herman Long the other day. "I watched Ryan at Chicago in the last series, and he acted like a young blood his first season out, more than like a seasoned professional. Jimmie was always a great ball player, but until this year his playing lacked enthusiasm and magnetism. Heretofore he played ball like he was there to do just what he had to. This year he is playing like he enjoyed it."

Freedman, the erratic President of the New York Club has rolled Pop Anson and installed Billy Joyce, in his old place as manager of the New York Club. The New York cranks a few weeks ago were howling for a new man in Joyce's place. Freedman put Anson there and the club has never done a day's good since. Yesterday Anson was given his walking papers and Joyce was put back in his old place. The latter will act as both captain and manager for the rest of the season. Anson's retirement is the outcome of a long struggle between him and President Andrew Freedman. "Pop" naturally thought from his somewhat extensive experience that he knew something about playing ball and ball players. President Freedman's opinions differed. The men have not been playing the hottest kind of ball for the past two weeks and Anson caught the blame for it. The two are said to have had words about the fitness of certain players to hold down their positions. Freedman wanted young blood; "Pop" held for seasoned tossers. The result was inevitable. Great Anson fell and Joyce, the scrapper, is again at the front.

"Anson proved a failure," says Freedman, "and no other course but to release him was open to the club. I have always had the utmost confidence in Joyce, and replaced him by Anson only to save him from the abuse that was heaped upon him by the club's enemies. The men showed that they could not play winning ball under Anson's directions. I believe that Joyce will restore them to the '96 standard of excellence, and that the team will soon take its proper place among the leaders."

Pittsburg, 6; Louisville, 3.

The L. A. W. Badge.

At the last meeting of the executive committee of the '98 Meet Club, the official badge to be used during the week of the meet was adopted. It will be decidedly unique and valuable both as a credential during the week of the meet, and as a souvenir of the greatest gathering of wheelmen that ever took place in this country. The design for the badges is in accordance with the promises made by the Hoosier delegations both at Philadelphia and St. Louis last winter.

A New Sporting Wonder.

Sockalexis, the Indian ball player, and Yousouf, the Turkish wrestler, will have to take a back seat to the latest wonder sprung on the sporting world. Ohio is to the front this time with a full-blooded Chinaman, who not only runs a stable of trotters, but drives in races as well. His name is Long Toi, and he lives in Cleveland. Last week Long Toi drove a trotter and got third money in a race of four heats.

Yesterday's Track Winners.

At St. Louis—Mystery, Fingal, Myriam G., David, Genan and Deerfoot.

GODDARD AND MAHER.

THOSE TWO HEAVY WEIGHTS TO MEET IN NEW YORK TO-NIGHT

TOMMY TRACEY GOES WEST.

The Ex-St. Louis Boxer Has Arranged to Meet Frank McConnell at San Francisco on Aug. 2.

Joe Goddard and Peter Maher will meet before the Lenox Athletic Club of New York to-night.

According to the terms they are to fight 25 rounds to a decision and for a purse of $8000.

These heavyweights have met before, and Maher has always had the worst of the engagements. In to-night's battle he hopes to turn the tables on the Barrier Champion.

Tommy Tracey, the one-time St. Louis boxer, passed through Chicago this week, en route to San Francisco, where he is to box Frank McConnell 20 rounds in August. Tracey's go with McConnell at 'Frisco will be watched with considerable interest, since McConnell dropped Charley McKeever in four rounds.

Jim Jeffries, the California Giant, and "Stockings" Conroy have signed to box before the Empire Athletic Club, of Syracuse, N. Y. The articles call for a 20-round contest July 20, at catch-weights. The men will get 60 per cent of the gross receipts, to be divided 75 and 25. Although Jeffries is considered a topnotcher, there are many throughout New York State who believe Conroy can take the Westerner's measure. Conroy is a youngster in the business, but his work in the ring has been meritorious. Besides winning numerous minor contests, he has defeated Steve O'Donnell in 17 rounds and Bob Armstrong in six. He also has a 20-round draw with Dick Moore to his credit, his defeat at the hands of Charley Goff being his only reverse.

Tom Sharkey and Gus Ruhlin, who boxed before the Greater New York Athletic Club last week, have not received their full share of the purse, as yet. The club was to have paid them $7500, but they are still shy $2500. The house only amounted to $6000, and figuring in the other expenses, the club is over $4000 loser.

Bob Douglas, the local champion welterweight, returned from Chicago on Thursday. Douglas went to Chicago to try and get Jack Moffatt to meet him. But Moffatt was not to be found. Now Douglas is going to turn his attention to Tommy Tracey.

Douglas says: "I will fight Tracey either to a finish or a limited number of rounds, both men to weigh 145 pounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. I have $500 to wager that I can defeat Tracey on the above terms and if he wants to meet me he should lose no time in covering my money."

OARSMAN TENEYCK.

He Talks About the Man Who Won the Henley Sculls.

WORCESTER, Mass., July 8.—Ned Ten Eyck, last year's holder of the diamond sculls, was not very enthusiastic over the Henley regatta, in which Howell, the American, was the winner.

"Yes," he said, "I knew Howell quite well when I was in England a year ago. I rowed against him, and my time was 8m. 36s. for the distance. I beat him about a length. I have no comment to make on the race, but would say that Howell must be pretty good if he is good enough to win, and what more can a man do than win? He won the race and got the record. I do not know that the conditions were any more favorable than last year. They were favorable enough then. I found no fault. There was no wind, and the course was available for good time. My time was equal to the record of the course which was held by Guy Nickalls. As far as the race is concerned there are five or six men in this country who could win the diamond sculls if they tried. Of course I have nothing to say about last year when I won the trophy. But I now name Whitehead and McGuire, Boston, Juvenal of Philadelphia and Evan Lewis of this city as men capable of winning the sculls. The men here do not row the same distance.

"The course there is one mile and 50 yards straightaway, while the usual course in this country to correspond to that distance is a mile and half with a turn. So far as Howell is concerned, I found him a gentleman when I met him, and I am glad he won the sculls. It makes no difference to me, except that I like to see the best men get there and like to see the conditions favorable for the best work a man can do. But, of course, I am glad an American won it, if Howell is an American. I have been told that he is.

"I am surprised though, as I thought Blackstaff would be winner. He certainly rowed faster last year and Howell must have improved greatly as in the Henley last year. Blackstaff beat Howell in the four and one-half mile race, and at the conclusion Howell was thoroughly exhausted."

Ten Eyck did not care to say much about himself or his work. He expects to row in the National at Philadelphia this month. He will row in the senior single and in the double with Lewis of this city. Lewis will also row in the senior single.

THE ST. LOUIS YACHTS.

They Held Their Own in the Regatta on Lac La Belle.

OCONOMOWOC, Wis., July 8.—The victory of the mainsail yacht Gladys of George W. Simmons of St. Louis at the opening regatta of the season on Lac la Belle was of the history making kind. She beat her class by more than 10 minutes in a sail of about 10 miles. She beat the sloop class on corrected time exactly a minute, being beaten on the free-for-all prize, the silver sloop, by only one yacht of the fleet, Vice-Commodore William Hale Thompson's 32-footer, Avis, of the fixed ballast class. Mr. Simmons has proved himself one of the very best yachtsmen in these waters.

The yacht Skipanou, belonging to Edward W. Simmons of St. Louis, recently bought at Marblehead, Mass., arrived by rail during the opening regatta, for which she had been entered, and of course did not sail. She is 31 feet over all, 17.8 on the load water line, 8.6 beam and carries 450 square feet of canvas. She goes into the fixed ballast class, being the fourth yacht of that class added to the Lac la Belle fleet this season.

The prize won by the St. Louis yacht Gladys has arrived. It is an exquisitely engraved 14-karat gold medal a little larger than a silver dollar.

Tom Burns' Good Work.

Under Burns the Chicagos are playing more harmoniously than they ever did under Anson, and in time Burns will demonstrate that, so far as baseball management is concerned, Anson at no stage of the game is his equal in getting good work out of the material on hand.

Two Dead Cards.

Rowdy baseball has killed the game in two League cities, says Ren Mulford, and when the bell taps next year for the opening of the season it would not be surprising to see the circuit cut down to ten clubs. Baltimore and Cleveland have not been playing to enough money at home to keep up stock in a banana stand. They are both dead cards.

JIM ARTHUR'S LUCK.

IT CAME WITH THE TWO RACES THAT FERVOR WON THIS WEEK.

THE OWNER WAS ALL OUT.

The Horse Appeared to Realize This Fact and Ran the Two Gamest Races of His Career.

The ups and downs of the race course are well illustrated in the case of Jim Arthur, owner of the horse Fervor.

This time last week Arthur, to use a race track expression, was "all out."

He hadn't a dollar in the world, and as he put it had to "scratch around" to pay the starting fee for his horse in the Oakwood handicap, run at Washington Park last Saturday.

Fervor won the Oakwood, and put $2000 in his owner's pocket. The horse seemed to realize the responsibility that rested on him, and ran the gamest and fastest race of his career. He had to knock a full second off the record to beat the favorite, John Huffman's St. Louis Hindoo, What-Er-Lou, by a nose at the end of a terrific drive. The extreme warmth of the pace was due in great measure to Imp's presence in the race and the feeling entertained by Burns on Timemaker and H. Martin on Fervor that it would not do to let the black mare get too far away in the first part of it.

With the money obtained through the winning of the Oakwood handicap, Arthur shipped his horse to St. Louis and started him in the Independence handicap, run at the Fair Grounds on July 4. He also backed his horse heavily to win that event. Again Fervor proved true, and on the night of July 4 Arthur found himself on easy street, where four days before he was "all out" and "scratching around" for money to pay a starting fee.

At Washington Park yesterday Umbrella Bill McGuigan's good horse Boanerges established a new world's record. The McGuigan horse then ran the mile and three sixteenths in 1:58¼ so easily that it looked as if he might have knocked another second off had he been pressed. The old record of 1:58½ was also made at the Washington Park track by Henry Young in 1894. Boanerges carried two pounds more than Henry Young. Riley Grannan, the Eastern plunger, won $7900 on the race.

The feature of the racing at the Fair Grounds yesterday was the capture of the owners' handicap, one mile and a sixteenth, by that wonderfully good mud horse David. He won cleverly from the feather-weighted Forbush, Madelaine and Imp. Skate. David was at one time as good as 9 to 5 in the betting.

Tranby made his reappearance on the track after his recent suspension and was barred in the betting in the sixth race. He appeared to be unable to untrack himself in the heavy going and finished a distant fifth.

There is talk of a change in the conditions of the Fair-Grounds stakes for next year. The change which has been suggested and which may be adopted is that in future the association shall not only guarantee the full value of the stake, but shall also guarantee that in no event will the association add less than a specified sum, which will probably be $800. With this change in conditions a stake guaranteed to be worth $1500 may become worth considerably more, as, if the plan is adopted, it will unquestionably increase the popularity of the stakes among horse owners and result in larger lists of entries. Judge Murphy favors the suggestion and will bring it before the directors of the association when the new stake list is being prepared, and there is little doubt but that the plan will be put in operation.

The book made on the first race at Latonia Tuesday should go down in turf history along with Col. Hatch's famous electric light "hold-up" at Rosedale and the "Polk Badget case." With only seven horses in the race the layers made a book which figured 158 and made an even-money favorite in the worst field of dogs started at Latonia this year. With a field of 10 to 15 horses a large percentage is not unusual, but when a book figures 158 with only seven horses in it there must be something wrong. Here are the figures:

| Horses. | Odds | Pct. |
|---|---|---|
| Tin Craft | 4 to 1 | 20 |
| Ben Walker | even | 50 |
| Van Logic | 8 to 1 | 11 |
| Moonhawk | 6 to 1 | 15 |
| Laundress | 10 to 1 | 9 |
| Lucky Monday | 2 to 1 | 33 |
| Miss Arnold | 4 to 1 | 20 |
| Total | | 158 |

For the day the six books averaged over $146, a little better than on the Fourth. The play Tuesday was extremely light, but the books all made money on the day. In the last race won by Lord Frazer, the eight books did not have more than 20 tickets to pay on the winner, and several of them did not take a bet, and yet 12 to 1 was the best laid on him.

RELEASING THEIR MANAGERS.

Several Clubs Have Done That Sort of Thing This Month.

This has been a great month for releasing managers.

Yesterday New York let go Pop Anson and put Billy Joyce back in his old place.

A few days ago Barnie was dropped from the Brooklyn club, but the team has played no better ball since.

Since Stallings was let go as manager of the Philadelphia club that team has improved greatly in its playing.

Gus Schmelz has been dropped as manager of the Minneapolis club.

The Washington club under the management of Capt. McGuire, is playing a game that is making glad the hearts of rooters and fans. A change in this respect would be an excellent thing for Louisville. That club has suffered more from bad management than any other club in the League, and has had no competent head since days of Jack Chapman. Fred Clark, the present manager, is a great ball player, but a dismal bluff as a manager; and, to add to his troubles, his managerial duties seem to have detracted from his ball playing, as compared with his last season's work.

Yes, Ball Players Work.

People who imagine that ball playing is not work, just a bit of healthy exercise, which must be more fun than a little, will kindly take a think or two. McFarland of Philadelphia has played in 50 games this year. He is a catcher, and has stood in the broiling sun stopping balls thrown with speed enough to shatter two-inch plank for at least an hour each day. Any of these balls had a chance to break a finger, or, were they properly fouled, knock him senseless. Fun—well, if it is not work, and real manual labor, there is no such thing. McFarland has got away so far without a bruise, and is doing his work like a machine.

Ned Hanlon as a Manager.

It is claimed that Hanlon has made $5000 this year by exchanging players. If this is true the people who think they know something about financiering can take lessons. Five thousand dollars to the good and the team as good as anybody's is pretty fair management.

Grand Stereopticon Exhibition.

The ladies in charge of Blind Girls' Home have arranged for a stereopticon entertainment with Meagher and Burke this (Friday) evening, giving views of the present war with Spain, insurrection of Cuba, Dewey's victory at Manila, American warships, transportation of troops, etc. This is the first time these views will be shown in St. Louis. Admission, 25c. Should it rain the entertainment will be postponed until following night.

WILL BE INVESTIGATED

ACTS OF BRUTALITY ON BOARD LA BOURGOGNE TO BE BROUGHT TO LIGHT.

OFFICIALS ARE AROUSED.

Evidence Is Being Gathered at Halifax, New York and Boston To-Day.

NEW YORK, July 8.—The alleged brutality exhibited toward the passengers of La Bourgogne during the struggle for life following the collision and sinking of the vessel, is the subject of wide comment throughout the city. It is the popular opinion that the stories of the surviving passengers must lead to an investigation of unusual thoroughness and interest.

Assistant District Attorney Younger, in discussing the case, said that under the common law, any company is responsible for the acts of its employes. In his opinion the surviving sailors of La Bourgogne could be indicted for murder if the charges made can be proved. He cited several parallel cases. One was that of the mate, Holmes, of the steamship William Brown, which sank off Nova Scotia in 1841.

Holmes ordered 14 men and two women thrown overboard. Holmes was arrested and tried for manslaughter, found guilty and the verdict was sustained by the United States Supreme Court.

Francois Edmond Bruwaert, the French Consul-General, said that as soon as the survivors of the wreck reached this port, a consular investigation will be instituted to collect all available evidence concerning the casualty, and this will be forwarded to the French Maritime Court.

"In this case as in all others," said the Consul-General, "I will hear any evidence that may be volunteered by the passengers, but so far as I have investigated the laws of my country on the subject, I have no right to determine upon any part of the case."

When asked whether, if there was evidence given by the passengers to show that any particular members of La Bourgogne's crew had actually killed a passenger from one of the ship's boats, he would be arrested here, the consul said that he had not the time to look up the law on the subject.

BOSTON, Mass., July 8.—The Plant Line steamer Halifax has arrived here, having on board 162 survivors of the French Line steamer La Bourgogne. On the passage from Halifax La Bourgogne's passenger list was carefully revised and it was shown that there were 714 souls on board the steamer, of whom 550 were lost and 161 saved. Of the saved 12 were second-class, 47 steerage and the remaining 105 were members of the crew.

Following is the complete list of the passengers saved from the steamship, made up from the emigration sheet of the steamer Halifax, on which the survivors came to Boston, and checked over by the second purser of La Bourgogne and Purser Cook of the Halifax, and is pronounced by La Bourgogne's officer as absolutely correct and final:

FOND OF LAW AND POETRY.

Mr. Rhea's Literary Taste Has Got Him in Trouble.

According to information filed with Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Johnson Friday morning by representatives of the Public Library, George H. Rhea of 2701 Morgan street has decided liking for law and poetry.

A warrant was issued charging Rhea with the theft of a volume of Byron and a copy of the Central Law Journal. It is not presumed that Rhea intended theft, but the library autharities feel that something must be done to stimulate the return of books.

IT IS A PATRIOTIC SHOW.

Pain's "Cuba" Reminds One of Francis Scott Key's Inspired Poetry.

Pain's great pyrotechnic war spectacle, "Cuba," which is being produced at Athletic Park, might be said to have been written on the lines of the patriotic words of the "Star Spangled Banner." Every "rocket's red glare," every "bomb bursting in air" during the great bombardment scene gives proof to the Cuban sympathizers that the stars and stripes are still with Uncle Sam's gallant marines, urging them on to victory.

The fact must not be forgotten that in the great fireworks display with which the spectacle ends a change is made in the main features with every performance. On account of the threatening weather no show was given last night. Friday evening some novel effects will be introduced, and for the children Mr. Lisseman, the pyrotechnist, has arranged a special feature called "the acrobatic monkey." Commodore Schley, the hero of Santiago, will also be shown in fire.

Saturday evening will be "Dewey night," when the valiant Admiral's flagship, the Olympia, will be seen floating in the bay of Manila. An immense picture of the hero of the Philippines will also be displayed.

PORTER WHITE GETS IT.

Lowest Bidder to Improve the City Assembly Halls.

The Board of Public Improvements at noon Friday opened bids for completing the Council Chamber and the hall of the House of Delegates. The lowest bid was made by Porter White. It was $59,000. The estimated cost was 70,[illegible].

The board also approved the plan of the Missouri Pacific Railway for a bridge at King's highway, between Arsenal street and Eichelberger avenue.

Burlington Route to Montana.

BURKE WOKE UP IN TIME.

Thunder and Lightning Aroused Him and He Beheld a Burglar.

A crash of thunder and a vivid flash of lightning awoke John Burke of 4330 Linton avenue early Friday morning. He sat upright in the bed and saw a man with a mask over his face, calmly searching the room.

Half asleep and dazed by the lightning's bright glare, Burke sprang from his bed and grappled with the intruder. Burke's bedroom is on the second floor. He wrestled with the burglar until he reached the stairway and down to the first floor they tumbled together.

The burglar gained the street, but Burke was immediately after him, loudly yelling "murder," "fire," "police," and every other form of alarm he could think of. The attention of Patrolmen McKenna and O'Connor was attracted and, as they rushed to the scene, they met the fugitive. They captured him easily enough and locked him up.

He gave the name of George Curry. The police do not know him, and the prisoner declined to tell anything about himself. A warrant charging burglary was issued Friday morning.

The lightning awoke Burke just in time, and the robber got nothing for his risk.

A JOB PUT UP BY NETTLES.

Asbury Manley Shows He Had No Part in the Mann Murder

Asbury Manley, a respectable colored man, living at Eighth and Biddle streets, who was arrested Thursday on suspicion of complicity in the murder of Samuel Mann, a conductor on the Suburban Electric Line, was released Friday morning after undergoing the sweating process in Chief Desmond's office for two hours.

Manley's arrest was apparently a scheme concocted by Jim Nettles, whom the police believe guilty of the murder of Mann. Prior to his removal from the Fourth District Station to the Four Courts Nettles told the police a weird tale about a conversation he overheard in one of the cells on the night previous. Two colored prisoners were discussing the murder of the conductor, he said, and one had remarked: "Manley did it, and I don't see why they arrested the other man."

Manley was thereupon arrested and at the same time the police gathered in Eugene Jackson, also colored. Jackson was released with Manley Friday morning.

MR. LECHLER WAS DISPLEASED.

Talked so Plainly to His Wife She Promptly Packed Her Trunk.

Mrs. Daisy Lechler went to Chester, Ill., July 4, on a steamboat excursion. The boat was delayed on the return trip, and Mrs. Lechler, with other excursionists, was held a prisoner on the boat all night.

When she returned home the following morning, her husband, E. A. Lechler, was not in a pleasant frame of mind. He expressed the opinion that Chester was a bad place to go to on the glorious Fourth, and his remarks were delivered with such emphasis that Mrs. Lechler left their home at 1702 Papin street and went to 2332 Eugenia street, where she is temporarily residing.

Friday morning she applied for a police summons against her husband. Assistant City Attorney Meigs took the case under advisement.

MISS REHM'S UNRULY HORSE.

Plucky Young Equestrienne Badly Injured in a Runaway.

Miss Annie Rehm of 2022 Penn street is only 16 years old, yet she is an accomplished horsewoman. She was driving a spirited horse belonging to her father, Fred W. Rehm, Thursday evening, and the animal took fright at Pestalozzi street and Jefferson avenue. It at once became unmanageable, and in front of 2831 Jefferson avenue the young lady was thrown from the buggy.

Bystanders carried her to the office of Dr. Fisher, 2315 Pestalozzi street, where her broken right arm was set and several stitches taken in a scalp wound. Miss Rehm was sent to her home. The runaway horse was captured at 2107 Gravois avenue.

MAYOR LETS THE PUSH OFF.

Tuesday Will Be Devoted to Work for the Amendments.

Nobody in the employ of the city will work next Tuesday—that is, not for the city. They are all expected to work good and hard for the passage of the amendments. In order that they may not be hampered by other business Mayor Ziegenhein has announced that he will proclaim the day a legal holiday.

He has not done so yet, but at Friday's meeting of the Board of Public Improvements it was said he intended to, and the board accordingly adjourned to next Friday at noon.

Saddle Horses for the Battery.

Battery A Relief Association have forwarded four fine saddle horses to Chickamauga, three of them for Capt. Rumbold and Lieuts. Webber and Murray, and the fourth for Lieut. Miller of Gen. Williston's staff. The animals were bought by Deputy Quartermaster General Smith.

CHARGES ARE SERIOUS.

J. H. SCHROEDER, WHOLESALE LIQUOR DEALER, IN TROUBLE WITH UNCLE SAM.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE HEARD.

Charged Not Only With Violating the Revenue Law but With Trying to Bribe a Gauger.

John H. Schroeder, a wholesale liquor merchant at 201 Market street, was before United States Commissioner Gray Friday charged with violating a section of the internal revenue law and also attempting to bribe a Government officer. The hearing was brief, but the evidence adduced was unfortunate for the defendant, who was held for the Federal grand jury. Robert Heitz, a commission merchant, signed his bond.

The offense which Schroeder is alleged to have committed was in using two barrels for distilled spirits without first submitting them to Uncle Sam for inspection. W. P. Smith, a United States gauger, was detailed on the case, and he claims to have secured positive information that Schroeder intentionally violated the law.

At the hearing Friday Smith testified that the liquor man offered him a substantial consideration if he would say nothing about the case.

Attorney Sutherland, who represented Mr. Schroeder, said there was nothing in the charges, and the fact that his client was bound over for the grand jury had no especial significance.

Schroeder has been prominent in the St. Louis liquor trade for the last 15 years. Recently he was tried and acquitted in the Federal courts on a charge of coloring liquor without a rectifier's license.

"I admit that some damaging testimony was introduced against me," said he Friday, "but I shall be able to show 12 fair-minded men that I in no way attempted to wrong the Government. I have resided in St. Louis many years and never before has anything of this kind occurred. I deny the charges and will prove that my dealings with the Government officers have at all times been honorable."

THE MARKETS.

ST. LOUIS, July 8.

Several factors combined to bull the markets on this side to-day, although cables opened lower, in response to the decline here yesterday. Liverpool rallied from the low point of the day, however, on American advices.

The causes of to-day's advance were the scarcity of cash wheat, the nervousness of shorts, who fear the long interest, although believing in ultimately lower prices; heavy rains in Missouri, reports of crops damage, small Argentine shipments and a heavy deficiency in the world's reserve stocks.

Against these factors is the Government report, due next Monday, forecasts of which indicate that the condition of wheat is 88, against 90.8 last month, and that the decline in Missouri and Kansas is offset by improvement elsewhere. The acreage of corn is estimated at 3 per cent smaller, but the condition at 90, against 82.9 last year, indicates a crop of 2,000,000,000 bu, against 1,902,000,000 bu last year.

The Ohio crop report gives condition of wheat 86, oats 99, corn 90, rye 87. Acreage of corn exceeds last year 9000 acres.

Beerbohm cables that from nearly complete returns the wheat crops of India will be 6,506,820 tons, against 4,892,879 tons last year, an average of 6,065,520 tons in the last five years.

The Corn Trade News says: "Total reserves in exporting and importing countries of wheat Aug. 1 next estimated at 111,000,000 bu, against 265,000,000 bu for average of last five years.

Argentine wheat shipments—Wheat, 24,000 bu last week, 72,000 bu; last year, none. Corn, 514,000 bu; last week, 424,000 bu; last year, 240,000 bu.

Total supply of breadstuffs, all positions, June 1, 67,200,000 bu; July 1, 54,350,000 bu; July 1, 1897, 50,300,000 bu. In store in Europe, June 1, 22,136,000 bu; July 1, 27,080,000 bu; July 1, 1897, 35,300,000 bu.

Clearances to-day were—Wheat, 219,252 bu; flour, 19,365 bbls; corn, 153,983 bu; oats, 210,419 bu. Wheat and flour equal 289,835 bu and for six days, 2,049,618 bu.

Liverpool closing cable—Wheat, quiet; July and Dec. ¼c higher; Sept. ¼c lower for the day, but July ¾, Sept. ¾c and Dec. ½c higher from the low point. Corn quiet; Oct. ¼d higher, making ¼c higher all round for the day. Cash wheat steady, ¼d higher for No. 1 California; No. 2 red unchanged.

WHEAT.

The market opened firmer and about recovered the decline of yesterday. The feature was the advance in July, which opened at 73½c and went to 75c. There is likelihood of a squeeze in July, not from a corner, but from the farmers holding back for better prices, No. 2 being extremely scarce. The scarcity of cash wheat, a heavy deficiency in reserve stocks, heavy rains and some reports of damage let the bulls have an inning to-day, but the advance was not sensational. September opened at 68c, ¼ to ⅛c higher than yesterday, and up to noon had gained ⅝c. December opened ¼ to ⅜c higher and gained ⅝c, and at noon July and September were just as they were at Tuesday's close.

The receipts of wheat in St. Louis to-day were 27,684 bu, compared with 20,538 bu same day last year. Of these receipts 793 sks and 37 cars were local, compared with 3639 sks and 18 cars same date last year.

The receipts of wheat at primary points to-day were 87,301 bu, compared with 168,209 bu same day last year. Shipments were 192,486 bu, compared with 149,095 bu same time last year.

The receipts of wheat at Minneapolis and Duluth to-day were 42 cars, compared with 122 cars same day last year.

The Italian Cabinet has reimposed a duty of 5 lire on wheat after July 1 and 7½ lire after July 15 per 100 kilos.

Stocks of wheat in the Northwest in second hands are 10,585,000 bu, against 15,189,000 bu a year ago.

July opened at 73½c and the quotations were all upward, as follows: 73¾c, 74c, 74¼c, 74½c, 75c, at which it closed, 1c to 2c higher than yesterday.

Sept. opened at 68c and had a range of 1c upward, between which it vacillated mightily, remaining for a long time between 68⅛@68¼c, then between ⅜c and ½c, then ½c to ⅝c, finally getting up to 69c and falling away again at the close to 68¾c.

Dec. opened at 68¼c, dropped to ⅛c, then to ¼c, went to 69⅛c and back to ¾c, up to ⅞c and back to ¾c, up then to 69c, then to ¼c, then ⅛c and back again, closing at the opening price.

Spot grades—At the call 78c was bid for No. 2, 75c for No. 3 and 72c for No. 4, with none offered at those prices. In the sample market 3 cars No. 2 were sold at 81c East Side track, a car of No. 3 sold at 79c this side and a car of No. 3 sold at 78c f.o.b; a sack lot of No. 4 sold at 74c and 76c this side, and a car of old No. 2 red to arrive sold at 90c East Side.

Closing quotations: July, 75c; Sept., 68¾c; Dec., 68½c.

CORN.

The market opened firm, but with little doing, July only scoring an advance up to the noon hour, when July was ⅜c above yesterday's close and Sept. about unchanged.

There is some bullish crop reports on corn, treating of damage and a quantity of late planted which will be susceptible to heat, but the forecast of the Government report promises 2,000,000,000 bu, against 1,900,000,000 bu last year.

The receipts of corn at St. Louis to-day were 26,425 bu, compared with 3125 bu same day last year. Of these receipts 70 sacks and 30 cars were local, compared with 130 sacks and 2 cars same date last year.

The receipts of corn at primary points to-day were 317,893 bu, compared with 281,352 bu same day last year. Shipments were 257,619 bu, compared with 505,611 bu same date last year.

July opened at 31⅛c bid to 32c asked and closed at the opening price, no business being done.

September opened at 31⅝c and the variations were uneventful, 31⅞c being high and 31⅝c low, the close being ⅛c below the opening.

Spot Grades—At the call 31½c was bid for No. 2, none offered. It sold at that price in the sample market, Central Elevator; a car of No. 3 white sold at 33¼c this side switched and a car of good No. 4 mixed sold at 29c East side.

Closing quotations: July, 31⅝c; Sept., 31½c.

OATS.

The market opened as dull as usual, nothing doing and no quotations before the call, when prices were about unchanged, except ⅛c higher was bid for Sept. and cash oats bid 1c higher.

The receipts of oats at St. Louis to-day were 18,000 bu, compared with 25,840 bu same date last year. Of these receipts 15 cars were local, compared with 22 cars same date last year.

July opened at 22c b and closed at that. No business.

Sept. opened at 20½c b, 20⅜c a; later 20½c was asked and that described the whole range and all the quotations, the close being at the opening price.

Spot grades—On the call 23c was asked for No. 2, none offered. In the sample market no sales were reported of No. 2; nominal quotation, 23½@24c; No. 3 white sold at 25½c and 26⅛c.

Closing quotations—July, 22c b; Sept., 20⅜c b.

New Orleans—25 discount bid; par asked.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Stocks showed strength at the opening throughout the list, with only a few exceptions, which included the coalers. The average gains of leading stocks was about a half and in Sugar extended to a point. Prices for Americans had been advanced in London before the opening.

The market quieted down after 11 o'clock, but there was no abatement of the general strength. Buying for London account exerted a sustaining effect and lifted St. Paul above par. Buying of Brooklyn Elevated road securities was again the feature of the bond market. Sales to noon, 127,300 shares.

The advance in prices attained striking proportions in special cases and the case with which the Vanderbilts and other specialties were lifted warned the bears, who covered heavily in the active stocks. New York, Chicago & St. Louis second preferred and Great Northern preferred rose four points each and gains of from 1 to 2 points were common throughout the list. There was much talk of pending negotiations for peace in connection with the rise.

Burlington Route to Puget Sound.

g a market basket, dress skirts and s . is no small feat on a rainy morn- when every moment one expects some else, intent on their own affairs, to into and rub out one's eyes—or push one the flooded gutter in self defense.

S In spite of the inclement weather I had o interview the market men and get some hing in the house to eat. So, gathering my skirts tightly around me, I set forth with bent head to breast the storm.

"Right this way for your German prunes," the huckster shouted in my ear as soon as I arrived. I turned around to see what they were and whether they were dried, but there they lay in baskets, large and purple, just like California plums and as he said," only ten cents a basket, ma'am," I told him to let me have a basket.

"Tomatoes are finer than ever before more plentiful," he vouchsafed, "and ng cheaper, as they are home grown. hey sell for five cents a quart or $1 a bushel."

The berries are rather good this season, but they are getting scarce now. Blackberries sell at from three boxes for 25 cents to 15 cents a box, or from 60 to 90 cents a crate, while the red raspberries are $1 a crate.

Only one variety of apples in so far, and that is the little red June. They are good and retail at 10 and 15 cents a dozen.

"Gooseberries?" echoed the market man, "Lord, miss, they are gone from these parts, but we sell a few that are shipped in from Wisconsin and other Northern States, at 10 for 5 gallon crates.

"Our currants are $1.20 a crate and they are also shipped."

The cherries are not in market any more, and all my efforts to procure a few nice ones for a pie were futile.

"Roasting ears are rather tough this year," replied the obliging boy, "and just coming in, too. We sell them for 10 cents a dozen, but they will be cheaper in a few days."

I moved further down the line between the crowded stalls and found some lovely looking okra, with little tender pods. "They are 15 cents a quart home-grown and getting better all the time," replied the huckster as he turned to run away a small boy who was endeavoring to put one of the cantaloupes in his pocket.

"Cantaloupes—price! 10 and 15 cents apiece and the watermelons are from 35 to 45 cents as yet. You see," he explained, "they are rather high, as they are very slow about coming in. But in the next week we will have them here and then the prices will come down."

New potatoes, or as they can almost be called now, "old potatoes," are selling for 20 cents a peck or 75 cents a bushel. Sweet potatoes are not yet arrived.

Egg plant is all grown here now, and retails at 10 cents a piece. Cabbages are so plentiful that they almost give them away at 15 cents a bushel. Radishes are rather large and rank, but the tender ones are two dozen for 5 cents. Cauliflower in the markets now is scarce worthy the name. It has passed its time and gone to seed. Some few heads that are there sell at 5 and 10 cents.

Green peppers, from which so many dainty dishes can be made, are very fine, and cheap at 10 and 15 cents a dozen.

Stringbeans are 5 cents a quart, or 25 cents a peck, while the cucumbers, which are rather large and pithy, are retailing at 3 for 5 cents.

"Rhubarb? Yes'm, there is a plenty of that for sure, and we sell it for 5 cents a bunch, 12 stalks to a bunch."

Celery is all shipped in and scarce. It is 5 cents a stalk. Carrots are cheap, 3 bunches for a dime, and as many more as one asks for. Asparagus is large, tough and scarce, and sells 5 cents a bunch, or 60 cents a dozen.

"Lettuce is almost gone, along with asparagus and a lot of other things, but what there is costs 5 cents a bunch," said the marketman.

Young spring chickens—those that are of the microscopic variety—sell at 25 cents a pair, while those that are of good size are three for 50 cents, and 25 cents apiece.

Butter is tempting, both the country and creamery. The former sells at 15 and the latter at 20 cents a pound. Eggs vary from 12½ to 15 cents a dozen.

"New peas are still in market and I want you to understand and tell your friends that they are in order and ever new until November. We have everything one wants in St. Louis—and if any one doubts it let him come to Union Market and see," replied the enthusiastic huckster, as I closed my basket on my day's marketing and started home.

MOU WIFE.

WOULD NOT LIVE AND BE IN PAIN.

W. F. Cinqmars Left a Sick Bed and Shot Himself.

WIFE FOUND HIM BUT A SECOND LATER DEAD.

HE HAD BEEN A SOLICITOR FOR THE ADAMS EXPRESS CO. FOR YEARS.

BAD HEALTH MADE WORSE BY THE DEMANDS OF DUTY.

Frequently Said He'd Rather Die Than to Suffer As He Was Doing, but His Threats Were Not Heeded.

W. F. Cinqmars, a solicitor for the Adams Express Co., unable to endure physical suffering of an intense character, shot himself in the heart at his home, 2849 Franklin avenue, at 6:10 o'clock Friday morning, dying instantly.

His wife had but a moment before kissed him and gone to another room to prepare for breakfast. She had scarcely left his presence than she heard the shot, but thinking it a cannon cracker some one had had left over from the Fourth did not hasten back to the bedroom. When she did return but a moment later her husband was lying across the foot of the bed, dead.

Apparently, Mr. Cinqmars had risen immediately after his wife had left the room, gone to the dresser, taken his revolver from a drawer and standing before the mirror taken deadly aim and fired. Staggering back from the shot he fell across the bed lifeless.

Mr. Cinqmars, who, since the age of 14, had been engaged in the express business, was for the past three years a solicitor for the Adams company. His work kept him in a buggy much of the time and the jolting over pavements aggravated a long standing trouble to such an extent that last Saturday he went to bed in the hope of securing relief by rest and treatment. He seemed to grow no better and more than once said he would rather be dead than endure the agony he was compelled to suffer.

No one thought seriously of his talk, believing it the exaggerated expression of a suffering man. He started to return to work Thursday morning, but his wife dissuaded him. Again Friday morning he on awaking about 6 o'clock said he must get out. Mrs. Cinqmars succeeded inducing him to remain in bed while she prepared coffee. It was while she was on this errand that he shot himself.

He used but one chamber of his revolver, the aim being sure. That he may have previously thought of suicide is indicated by the fact that he had, unknown to his wife, fully loaded the weapon with ball cartridges after using it Sunday and Monday in helping to make the Fourth noisy.

Mr. Cinqmars was 39 years old. He was born and reared in Denver, where his father, D. C. Cinqmars, is still in the express business. A sister is the wife of General Manager Cramer of the Denver & Rio Grande express service. A brother, Harry, is a corporal in Troop F, 7th Cavalry. Mr. Cinqmars lived in St. Louis 23 years, with the exception of seven years, from 1888 to 1895, when he was general agent at Denver for the Adams company. Returning to St. Louis, he secured the position he was filling at the time of his death. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Agnes Cinqmars, to whom he was wedded 16 years ago. No children were born of the union.

Physically Mr. Cinqmars was a fine specimen of manhood. Nearly 6 feet tall and built in proportion, he gave no outward evidence of suffering which would cause him to commit suicide.

CRAZED BY STATISTICS.

Engineer Jason Matchett Under Observation at the Hospital.

Jason Matchett, a stationary engineer living at 4237 Norfolk avenue, has gone insane on the subject of unlicensed engineers. He is now confined at the City Hospital as a prisoner.

Some time ago he was appointed on a committee by the local engineers' association to make a canvass throughout the city for the purpose of ascertaining what firms were not employing licensed engineers, and if any were found it was the intention of the engineers to make a vigorous prosecution.

Thursday Matchett turned up at the Four Courts, he says, with the names of two prominent firms which were violating the law by employing unlicensed engineers. He asked City Attorney Clover, he claims, for summonses against them, but they were refused. He then threatened Clover's life, but made no further demonstration.

Thursday night he met a man named May out near his home and tried to kill him. May made his escape and reported the facts to Officer Casey of the mounted district, who placed Matchett under arrest and sent him to the hospital.

Friday Matchett talked intelligently and laughed at the idea of being called insane. When arrested a pistol was found on him.

MALT-NUTRINE.

Nursing mothers find the nutriment they need in Malt-Nutrine—the Food Drink. Malt-Nutrine is prepared by the famous Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, which fact guarantees the purity, excellence and merit claimed for it.

Sheridan and Washington.

W. L. Sheridan, in reply to the challenge of Dan Washington, says that he cannot recognize the latter owing to his color. Mr. Sheridan says he will meet any white cake walker in America for any sum within reason, but that he will not meet a colored person in competition.

ENSIGN FELIX HUNICKE.

Navigator of the Converted Yacht Hist Now at Santiago.

Dispatches from Santiago tell of the prominent part taken by the converted yacht Hist in the destruction of Cervera's fleet.

St. Louisans will be interested in this, because the navigator of the Hist is Ensign Felix H. Hunicke, who commanded the St. Louis Naval Reserves as long as they were in existence. When they were swallowed by the 1st Regiment he was appointed a Major in the 1st, but soon after was called for service in the navy.

HAS PECULIAR VAGARIES.

Druggist Thierauf Runs Off a Horse Race Every Day.

Henry Thierauf, the Cheltenham druggist, who is undergoing mental examination at the City Hospital, has peculiar vagaries. His loss of mind is due to imaginary winnings on horse races. He thinks his cell at the hospital is the grand stand at the Fair Grounds and every few minutes he runs off a hot race.

He sees the horses go round and calls out the winners in true "Jonesey" style. He makes his betting so as to give show money on every horse in the race. He then plays them all and never loses, he thinks.

Friday his wife called on him and they chatted together for some time. Thierauf thinks he has $500 in the Union Trust Co. which he won last week at the Fair Grounds.

"I am going to escape to-day," he said, Friday morning. "I have been engaged to go to work at the Insane Asylum as druggist at a salary of $250 a year and board. Directly I am going to walk out of here, jump the fence and it is a thousand to one that nobody can catch me. They don't know that I will go to the Insane Asylum, and of course will never find me."

Thierauf once held the position of druggist at the asylum.

THE OLD CITY HALL.

This Important Property Will Be Sold at Auction July 16.

As the time for selling the old City Hall property at Eleventh and Chestnut streets grows near the interest increases. The immensity of the sale, through the great size of the property and its unusually high value, adds to the interest. This is the only large piece of downtown property that has not been subdivided and built on. It thus remains the only site where a really large building can be erected without an interminable muddle over titles, purchase, etc., would not be met with.

The sale is under the care of the Charles Green Real Estate Co. Mr. Green of this firm will first sell the property in usual sized city lots. He will then offer it as a whole. If the bids for the lots aggregate more than the bid for the whole, the property will be knocked down to the small buyers. The sale is set for July 16 in the morning. Full particulars can be had of the Charles Green Real Estate
